October Features Class, Men's Union Elections

Luikens, Lally Triumph Easily, O'Connor Wins By Narrow Margin

October, election month at Aquinas college, has brought the announcement of new senior, junior, and sophomore class officers, together with the returns on the Rosary Procession Climaxes Devotion

Students at Aquinas will climax the observance of the Rosary with the annual procession, Oct. 22.

Public address facilities will be set up by Frank Kowary, sophomore, and the students, dressed in collegiate cap and gown, will recite the Rosary and sing hymns in honor of Our Lady as they march in procession about the campus. Warren Eardley, senior, will give out the Rosary, and Gram Brown will preside at the organ.

The group will finally gather round the oval, south of the administration building, where the Rev. E. U. Fay, O.P., dean of men, will address the assembly on "Our Lady of the Rosary."

The Rev. Arthur F. Bukowski, president of the college, will close the ceremonies with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

As has been the custom in previous years, the Aquinas Herald will give an award concurrent with each issue published with the Rosary being given to the campus group which, according to the Herald, "best shows the most toward promoting genuine school spirit."

Miss Hightower Assumes Assistant Librarian Duties

Changing from the catalogue system used by the Congressional Library to the Dewey Decimal system, University librarian Mary L. Hightower has some duties to perform.

She recently spoke of the ways in which she would have to modify the present system to conform with the new one. The new system will be used in the library as of Oct. 15.

Miss Hightower, who has been working in the library since 1943, said that she would have to change the call numbers of all the books in the library to conform with the Dewey Decimal system.

She also said that she would have to change the library catalogues to conform with the new system.

Miss Hightower received her degree in library science at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., and has been working in the library ever since.

She is the assistant librarian in charge of the Dewey Decimal system.
College life, as seen from the factory, the office, or the farm, is a vacation which features rest, entertainment, pampering by indulgent teachers, and many things which add up to a four year round of social intercourse. Twelve of them were given no credit whatever for possession of that trait which sets them off most distinctly from their working brothers; that is, a tendency to think deeply about things of great consequence.

Thirty years ago one whom we all love very much, in looking at the world, saw that things were going very badly for the human race; that unless drastic changes occurred in our habits of life and prayer a catastrophe of world-wide proportions would certainly befall mankind. Thereupon Our Blessed Mother hastened to give three small shepherds at Fatima directions for all of us to follow in order to avoid disaster. Our assignment is simple: we must say the Rosary with devotion, and pray for the conversion of Russia.

At her appearance to the children of Fatima, during which she performed a miracle witnessed by roughly 50,000 gathered people, she called herself "Our Lady of the Rosary," and indicated that it is through her, with our use of the Rosary, that sanity and some semblance of peace shall prevail on earth. Thus it becomes not only our duty to ourselves to pray the Rosary, but also our duty to Our Lord and His Blessed Mother, for no one suffers more than They when the world is in the agony of war.

So instead of praying that Russia shall not get the secret of the atomic bomb, let's pray that she shall get God's grace; rather than praying for fewer divorces, let's pray for a greater number of truly Christian marriages.

With Mary's promise of victory in both cases, could we lose?
According to statistics issued by the college registrar, 564 students are enrolled in the college. Of these, 274 are women, and 290 are men. Between September and October, 186 women and 112 men withdrew from the college. Among the students who withdrew, there were 76 women and 45 men who were enrolled in the college in previous semesters. The total number of students enrolled in the college is now 564, including 274 women and 290 men.

Three Cross The Road
With the exception of the student body, the campus has been transformed into a busy scene as the fall semester begins. The students have returned to their dormitories and classes, and the campus is alive with activity.

Knowledge of True Education Emphasized At Student Mass
Citing the unrest and sense of frustration to be found at present on many college campuses, the Rev. Martin E. Garry, O.P., addressing the student body of Aquinas at the opening Mass, Sept. 19, showed how an incomplete knowledge of what constitutes true education is a strong contributing cause of the unrest.

Father Garry drew largely on the teachings of St. Thomas Aquinas to demonstrate that Christian education “must be directed to the whole man,” that it must both “inform and engage the student against overemphasis on material gain in the present system.” He pointed out that the knowledge that should be imparted to students is that which is opposed to society, contributes to its real progress.

The Rev. F. Różycki, S.T.L., celebrated the High Mass in St. Thomas Church at 9 a.m. Students sang the “Missa de Angelis” with the Glee Club singing the Proper.

Graduates of 1947 Move In Many Directions
Though they deserted their books and clutched their parchments last June, several members of the Class of ’47 did not say a final goodbye to books and school.

Rosemary Fowlie is at the University of Michigan doing graduate work in English. Mr. and Mrs. Konrad J. de Alva are also in Ann Arbor, where “Kay Jay” is preparing for a Mas- ter’s degree in political science. Anne Schon is taking a short vacation, eager to get back to school soon, and will enroll in extension courses at Aquinas.

Others are back in school in a new role—that of the teacher. Jerry Wittes is teaching English in a rural school near Sparta, while Jean Cavansa is teaching in the 7th Grade. Heights kindergarten pupils—who attend in two shifts daily—eager to keep her well occupied. Anne Marie Barth is teaching fourth grade at North Park, and Betty Butler has taken over as biology lab assistant at Aquinas.

Several members of the class are employed in offices. Kathryn Gauth- kiowski is with the Filer Fiber comic strip in Marquette, and Jean Simon is secretary to Sister Mary Monas, R.S.M., at Mercy Central Hospital in hidden. Marijean Schrauw is in charge of the office at the newly established Grand Rapids branch of the Detroit Steel corporation.

Four Alumni Enter Teachers’ Ranks
Aquinas grade teacher pedagogue are Roma Jurisich, 38, who is teaching English and Latin at St. Mary’s Cathedral High in Saginaw, in the same June Trump, who is teaching English and American Government at St. Peter and Paul.

Paula Kowalski, 36, has taken an assistantship at Marquette university, teaching two divisions of Freshmen English. Paula is also doing graduate study at Marquette.

Richard Goolian, C.C., 36, has joined the music faculty of Chapman college, Los Angeles.

High Potentate of an organization known as the Whiffenpoofs, he is a active in college dramatics, a member of the Herald editorial staff, and will oald, abet, or join any and all activities.

Gordon’s age provides a great deal of interesting conversation. This subject is the one tender spot upon which he would not prefer to dwell. Sufficient to say that he mentions that he is old enough to.

Gordon Jach
A social scientist, a position is en- vies. Even in ordinary circumstances, he will graduate with a Latin major and impossi- ble minors. At the moment his aim seems to consist in adding as many minors as possible to his shield.

But, of course he changes his protective coloring and becomes a social dynamo. Recently elected President of the Social Science Forum, he has a run- ning start, Oct. 14, with a lively discussion on foreign policy, in the home of Prof. Lewis B. Oling, moderator of the group. Meet - ings of the Forum will be held every second Tuesday and are open to all interested in world affairs.

Miss Marie Mylan Offers Girls Attractive Program

Miss Marie Mylan, new women's physical education instructor, comes to Aquinas with several years of basketball, and also instructions from specialists in hair styling, physical grooming, and clothes design.

Circle Features Handicap Bowling

The Friday night open-house for students and alumni of Aquinas, commonly called the Circle, has added a new form of entertainment to its already bursting schedule. A newly organized bowling league will hold its first contest, Friday, Oct. 10, and will continue to bowleay through the season. The games will be held in May.

Gerry Woltszak has been appointed manager of the league, which consists of eight teams. Each team consists of three men and two women. Team captains have been announced as follows: James Laidlaw, Ralph Kowalewski, Rex O'Connor, Dick Gazella, Joe Stewart, Marciniak, Spielmaker, and a nucleus of a fourth is in the making.

Stars On Parade

First in the current series of "Stars on Parade" is the man who made the rounds of the state last year, clearing the dime of Jean Collins' "Hank." Hank has pushed practice, and has been able to gather the informa- tion news out of the column this issue. Good, old, reliable Henry has given up the dif- ferent stories, and now to "happier hunting grounds." The sad story of Hank's and begins on late Sunday afternoon at the New York hotel on the corner of Fourth Ave. Hank had spent a jolly time at the bar, and now and then was returning home, more, weary, but merely tossing along. Suddenly, catastrophe strikes! There was a loud crack, and a steel rod penetrated such as the one. Hank, I suppose, long over to the shoulder of the road, may have been left over to the shoulder of the road, grass was lying about the field, and a handful of lawn. Musical Notes

By Jo Ann Peters

Play a banzako? Can you out-scrub Benny on the Violin??

Are you an oboe gifted musician?? No . . . well, the mediocre are our specialty, but we can ask you pertinent too, so all you musically inclined students get into the swing of things and make our choral orchestra and chorus something to brag about: "make your own musical school of activities and you're in the right place."

According to mentor Nagle, several aspirants have signed in- dividually and several have of forming the group individually. This is a fine, they have plans to add them to the team in the near future.

If sustained interest is shown in the proposed league, a similar league may be formed during the winter months for basketball and soccer. It could easily run on a class basis which will provide additional interest in the contests.

Nagle has announced that members of last year's best record among the Aquinas basketball teams, are as follows: James Laidlaw, Ralph Kowalewski, Dick Gazella, Joe Stewart, Marciniak, Spielmaker, and a nucleus of a fourth is in the making.
