Alumni Slate
Cabaret Dance
Tom Bots Orchestra Signed For Frolic
The Morton hotel ballroom, Feb. 7 from 9:30 to 12:30, will be the scene of a pre-Lenten "Cabaret Dance" sponsored by the Aquinas Alumni Association. The dance, the first given by the Association since 1921, will be an informal one for which Tommy Batt and his five-man orchestra will play.

Co-chairmen Al Lizewski and Maxine Poliuk, both Aquinas alumni, students, and their friends to attend.

Admission price is $2.40. This includes three hours of dancing, table and bar service and a show for the door prize, a portable radio.

William House and Edward Crexley are handling arrangements. Publicity is in charge of John Planagan.

Aquinas students may obtain tickets to the dance from alumni members, Robert Roosevelt and Betty Storno. Also handling tickets are Robert Schmidt, Patricia Eardley, Maxine Poliuk, Evelyn Wilcox, Dave Crookston, Pat Mullins, Phyllis Krop, and Mary Ann Smith.

Reservations may be made with any of the members of the ticket committee.

IJC Plans Collegiate Trip, Sponsors Interracial Picnic
On the agenda of the Interracial Justus Week program this week are four issues of the AUGUSTINE HOUSE NEWS, two of which are the result of Editor Frances Sullivan's, of Wayland, will be special editions for the NFCCS Fort Wayne Regional Congress for Women and for Interracial Justice Week.

The IJC will lay final plans Feb. 28 for the Congress to be held at St. Joseph's College, Feb. 14-15. A special program for the Region will be held in the afternoon. The IJC Club is sponsoring an interracial picnic for all Catholic students, for the use of children living in the vicinity of the college.

A trip to Detroit, to flashes student interest in the problem of interracial education and opportunities, will be made in connection with the college curriculum.

A benefit bazaar for the Scholarship Fund sponsored by the college in the region for the education of Negro students will be held Thursday Feb. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus hall. Thomas Overkleeck, executive secretary of the Board of Trustees in charge of arrangements.

The Club will culminate its work at the annual Interracial Justice Week program, Feb. 29 to March 1, during which the IJC will have an open house at the college, and also more special movies, speakers, religious activities, and educational exhibits.

The first post-holiday meeting, Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, the club heard Mr. Paul Phillips, of the Illinois Interracial League, explain the recent integration of the Southern States.

Racism, to Phillips, is one of those things that all the people of the United States have to learn to love each other. Phillips said he believed that the recent integration of the Southern States was the result of the Negro people's struggle for freedom and justice. Phillips also said that the Southern States were not the only place where racism existed. He pointed out that racism existed in all parts of the country, but that the Southern States were the most obvious place where it was most evident.

Atlantic monks, according to St. John, are known for their love of the arts. In the past, they have been known to create works of art that are both beautiful and meaningful. For example, they have created stained glass windows, paintings, and sculptures. They have also been known to write poems and songs, and to perform music. In addition, they have created works of architecture, such as churches and monasteries.

Today, the monks continue to create works of art that are both beautiful and meaningful. They are also known for their dedication to education, and they have created schools and universities where students can learn about the arts and other subjects.

FATHER O'LEARY
at Thomas' chair.
College Loses

(Continued from Page 1)

The death of Mr. Winters came as a shock to us and our families. His passing seemed to have been in good health and had missed no classes on account of illness. Mr. Winters had spent more than 25 years teaching at the Conservatory of Music.

He had been part-time teacher at Catholic University in 1938, where he had taught voice and piano. Students, faculty, and alumni have joined in expressing their gratitude to the School of Music for all that Mr. Winters, Sister M. Bertrand, O.P. who worked with him in the committee on student affairs, made possible. The service to all was remarkable. On one occasion, Sister Bertrand, who was conducting the committee, mentioned that he had been given a message from the headquarters of the Catholic University. The message read:

"Emmet Winters, Voce Professus et Sacerdos," was a member of an artistic French family, attending the Sorbonne. Love fellows and so does despair, so that at any rate, it is telling in favor of the rationalism of their day. It is a moot point whether this truth is stranger than fiction is correct.

For WE HAVE BEEN FRIENDS TOGETHER for more than 70 years, and even love between Rains and Jacques缣on. Many persons, such as to be found in popular literature, but we believe that reality is better than imagination.

The story of the Maritains is an exciting one, and we are sure that the reader will enjoy the book. The couple adhered to the Catholic Church, and their spiritual and intellectual development was influenced by the work of the noted philosophers, especially Bergson and Maritain.

The memoirs detail the intellectual growth of the couple, as well as their personal lives and their experiences. The book is an important contribution to the study of Catholic thought and the development of the Maritans.

Adventures In Grace is a sequel to the first book and gives an insight into "the invisible world." The book is rich in anecdotes and stories that have been passed down through generations.

As a sequel it equals its predecessor in its ability to amaze and delight. It is a great book for those who have a spiritual appetite and seek to know more about their faith.

If you are a fan of the Maritans, you will not want to miss this book. It is a wonderful read that will deepen your understanding of the Catholic faith and the Maritans' legacy.
Sophes Feature Spanish Topic For Fete

Strictly for fun and in the Spanish theme is the way the sophomores are working on their final examination dance, "Baila Latino," to be held in the Paulding hall on Jan. 30.

Shirley Peters and John Hickey have been chosen chairman. Committees include tickets and printing, Joseph Haney; decorations, Rosemary Vogt; publicity, Mary Stang and Mary Beth Boeckh.

Choice of a band and other com­mittee have yet to be selected, but tickets will be $1.50 per couple.

Men's Union Plans Stag For Jan. 22

The Men's Union plans a special stag party, Thursday evening, Jan. 22, for the benefit of the Grand Valley College. It will be held at the Goe­bel American Legion post, corner of 12th and Garfield, and admis­sion will be by Men's Union cards only.

There will be the usual poker games and dancing though the soft music of a piano accom­panied by Miss Mary Stewart, who will play (and, of course, refreshments, ac­companied by the "snack" of the night will be the fulfillment of the Men's Union's promise of two main events.

Co-chairmen of the event are James O'Brien, '51, and Rita Peplinski, of Grand Rapids.

"Looking at the Music Lineup"

by Ronan Macdonald.

"Muriel Karp, a senior with the speciality of French, enthusiastic sharing of life, that flows over into her liking of Thackeray who is interested in

Muriel Karp

People who are interested in other peoples are themselves inter­esting. Such is Muriel Karp, a sen­ior with the speciality of French, enthusiastic sharing of life, that flows over into her liking of Thackeray who is interested in

Students Must Be Articulate: Fr. Ritzius

"Until each one of us tries to turn on the light in our own life, our thought will remain dark," said Father Ritzius.

Thus warned the Rev. John Rit­zius of the Paulist Information Center in Grand Rapids at the Stu­dent Guild meeting, Jan. 14. In the presence of the President of the Christian Brothers University, Father Ritzius addressed the club which is composed of Catholics that Catholics must take personal and positive action in clarifying and strengthening America's position as the standard-bearer of Christianity. "America, like Simon of Cyrene, is carrying the Cross of Christ, but only vaguely knows why. We, being college bred and aware of our Catholic principles, know why America is carrying the cross. The obligation rests upon us, therefore, to spread our Catholic philosophy. And in doing so, we must be or­ganized. But to be articulate, we must be interested; and to be in­terested, we must pray — that we may incorporate into our think­ing and acting our Catholic the­ology and philosophy."

At the assembly, Robert Mc­Donough, president of the Guild, revealed that the Advisory Coun­cil would appoint a student committee to handle plans for the erection of a campus shrine. The committee will hire an architect to draw up plans, and the project is expected to be dedicated to the dead soldiers of World War II. There is a fund of $1000 collected for the shrine two years ago.

Second Term

(Continued From Page 1)

days at 7 p.m. Psychology will be offered on Mondays at 7 p.m., with the Rev. F. D. R. Ph.D. as instructor. A three hour course in business education for Parz will be taught by Lewis B. Clingman, Thursday at 4:15, and an Eco­nomic Problems on Thursdays at 7 p.m.

Sister M. Aquin will have a 10­week non-credit class on the Mass, Mondays at 11 a.m.
Orchard Lakers Hand Aquinas 38-35 Defeat

Aquinas Tommies went down to defeat for the ninth time this season to the inquisitive, 38-35. The game was played at Orchard Lake, Jan. 17.

Friday's afternoon game looked as if the quizzing from Aquinas might erase the zero from their win column for the second time in a year. Although St. Mary's led, 26-19 at the half, the Tommies caught the range in the next 10 minutes to rack up a total of 16 points against one for the opponent, and led at the end of the third period, 55-27.

The game was not lost from the line, a thing which has happened in two previous contests. The Tommies made 10 of 19 from the charity line while the Orchard Lake quizzed connected with only 10 for 20.

Youngsters Edge Wiffenpoofs 27-26

It was a case of youth against age with the oldsters finally bowing out after a fast start as the Wiffenpoofs 27-26 in an intramural contest played before the Aquinas-Wiffenpoof till Sunday February 6 on Andrew's floor.

The Wiffenpoofs, whose average age goes far above the "teens," broke into an early lead and held a leg on the Tommies throughout the game.

In the second half the tide changed as the Bushwackers, enjoying a youthful burst of energy paced by Bill Feutz and Don O'Hearn, crept up on the rating in the next 10 minutes to rack up a total of 16 points against one for the opponent, and led at the end of the third period, 55-27.

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the Tommies.

A graduate of Ionia, R.S. Peter and Paul, Rex was one of the standards on the Academy cadet squad that captured 10 wins in 41 starts over a two-year span. This string included an unbeaten record in the '41-'42 season, their only loss coming in the regional finals of the '41-'42 state playoffs. Rex was named captain of the '41 aggregation, his team finishing with a still impressive 15-5 record.

The likeable Mr. O'Connor also played basketball in high school and as hoopka he likes golf, (he would mention no scores), and is active as a boy scout leader at St. Stephen's.

Rex spent two years in the army as a gunner on a B-29; but, luckily the only "foreign" service he saw was in Texas. When discharged, Rex entered Aquinas and is now playing his second season for the Tommies. He is also sophomore class president and is a pre-law student. Next year he hopes to be at either Notre Dame or the U. of D.

It is "the luck of the Irish" that follows Mr. O'Connor. Back in 1941 his name was pulled out of the barrel as the winner of a new Chevrolet, and the following year he won $100 at a similar drawing! If you consider that good luck, Rex would like you to know that he has 12 girls and is 23 smooth to be given away in March!

When You Got 'An Courtin' Dribble Dribble Little

By DANIEL SCHMIDT

The term "dribbling" to the uninitiated, might mean practically anything ranging from a method for making cake to something which runs down one's chin while eating a sandwich. But to those who participate in the sport, dribbling means all the skill and cunning contained in basketball. In every phase of every sport, each player has his little secret, and the art of dribbling is no exception.

One of the most common sensibilities on the hardwood court is the "I can, Jack," variety. The advantage in this type of ball-handling, and all coaches agree on this point, is that the dribbler opposes the ball more easily and affords more thrills for the crowd.

A third species of the dribbler is the "I don't want to, but I can have it, it's too hot for me," type. This character is easily recognized as he goes galloping down the floor with the ball rac­ing two steps ahead.

The last type on our list of dribbling characters is the locomotion type "look out for short, dribbler." He is more easily recog­nized as the "Look out for me, I'm going to get hot for you see," sort of player. Left over from the football season, he is the other college men prefer from's

...Stars In Parade...

Shine from Coach Nagle

Having already passed through Grand Rapids, Bay City, Green Bay, and other cities, the Parade of Stars next stops in the second most important city in Ionia county where Rex O'Connor represents the friendly Western Michigan community of Ionia!

A graduate of Ionia R.S. Peter and Paul, Rex was one of the standards on the Academy cadet squad that captured 10 wins in 41 starts over a two-year span. This string included an unbeaten record in the '41-'42 season, their only loss coming in the regional finals of the '41-'42 state playoffs. Rex was named captain of the '41 aggregation, his team finishing with a still impressive 15-5 record.

The likeable Mr. O'Connor also played basketball in high school and as hoopka he likes golf, (he would mention no scores), and is active as a boy scout leader at St. Stephen's.

Rex spent two years in the army as a gunner on a B-29; but, luckily the only "foreign" service he saw was in Texas. When discharged, Rex entered Aquinas and is now playing his second season for the Tommies. He is also sophomore class president and is a pre-law student. Next year he hopes to be at either Notre Dame or the U. of D.

It is "the luck of the Irish" that follows Mr. O'Connor. Back in 1941 his name was pulled out of the barrel as the winner of a new Chevrolet, and the following year he won $100 at a similar drawing! If you consider that good luck, Rex would like you to know that he has 12 girls and is 23 smooth to be given away in March!

When You Got 'An Courtin' Dribble Dribble Little

By DANIEL SCHMIDT

The term "dribbling" to the uninitiated, might mean practically anything ranging from a method for making cake to something which runs down one's chin while eating a sandwich. But to those who participate in the sport, dribbling means all the skill and cunning contained in basketball. In every phase of every sport, each player has his little secret, and the art of dribbling is no exception.

One of the most common sensibilities on the hardwood court is the "I can, Jack," variety. The advantage in this type of ball-handling, and all coaches agree on this point, is that the dribbler opposes the ball more easily and affords more thrills for the crowd.

A third species of the dribbler is the "I don't want to, but I can have it, it's too hot for me," type. This character is easily recognized as he goes galloping down the floor with the ball rac­ing two steps ahead.

The last type on our list of dribbling characters is the locomotion type "look out for short, dribbler." He is more easily recog­nized as the "Look out for me, I'm going to get hot for you see," sort of player. Left over from the football season, he is the other