"Did he say that? ... ya know he's got something there?"

"Well I was Fr. J. V. should U. s. troops remain in Korea?

No

should U. S. troops remain in Korea?

Yes

Number one on the agenda of the United Nations, and one of the hottest issues of the political campaign is the Korean War. Should American troops be withdrawn from Korea? Should they remain, or should they be increased? Well equipped to answer this question are war veterans. Following are opinions of some defense veterans.

Vincent Remus, freshman: "At the offset, when the South Koreans asked the United Nations for help, we had a moral obligation to answer this call. We are a Christian nation associated with the Christian Reformed Church. And when we consider the growing need for adequate facilities here at Aquinas the only Catholic college in the area, we too wish that our expansion by some such plan as this.

Students of Aquinas have proved that they can effectively organize themselves, but just as students everywhere, their enthusiasm runs hot and cold. Not that we think a perpetual fire must be built under them to insure their remaining at the boiling point, but if the students, who are the working-force of Aquinas, were presented with an effective plan, one with a scope large enough to enable them to see a concrete result, we feel confident that response would follow.

No Parking?

Perhaps a solution to the Aquinas parking problem may be found in the system used by the city colleges. Earl Teepel, the U. D. campus police, places a sticker on the car windows of parking violators. The inconvenience of removing the stickers to the violator from again breaking parking regulations.

The YMCA faces an added problem on the downtown campus. Graduates, shoppers, and night school students. The students and instructors have a right to use. Application for the use of these facilities should be just as effective as at the U. D. campus.

Editor's Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

Regarding the editorial "Fun For All" in the October 25, 1952 issue of the Aquinas Herald, I would like to express the confusion and misunderstanding which I am sure the writers of that editorial did not intend. It is a pity to see words like "whore" and "batgirl" used in a college newspaper.

Is this what Aquinas stands for and what it wishes to represent? I think not. I think that Aquinas is a college which wishes for its students to have fun and to enjoy their time here. The editorial "Fun For All" refers to an organization which has a name. We should take care not to let that name be associated with college life.

Sincerely yours,

Congratulations to the campus Red Feather and Red Cross community fund drive. This year's proceeds have been used to help pay for work among the colored kids on a picnic once in a while.

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to tell you about "Light Up the Land." It is a pageant portraying the idea that "we can light our world with freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom from want." It is a good idea and a good way to help others.

Sincerely yours,

Father Max Jordan Suggests Solution to World Confusion

"The cross stands for the order of God against the chaos of man." As an illustration the speaker cited the recent speech of Pope Pius XII in Berlin during the past summer. He termed it "one of the greatest sermons I have ever experienced in scope and significance." He estimated that over 200,000 religion-starved Catholics of Berlin other satellite countries attended the program in the midst of Russian terror.

Some meetings of the convention took place in Hitler's stadium, where a newly erected cross towered high above the people. This convention demonstration, Fr. Jordan said, that "the Universal Church knows no boundaries."

As the best example of the Communist's attitude toward religion, Fr. Jordan depicted the huge statue in Russia of a man shaking his fist at God. He said that the Communist promise to perfect the world to a point where prayer is unnecessary, "But he stated, "there is no human solution to the problems facing the world."

I. J. C. Hears Urban League Representative

Cooperation of real estate boards could bring about freedom of movement for Negroes in Grand Rapids, and other cities, said Fred Vander Laan, a member of the Urban League Oct. 15 in the Commons Room. The talk was sponsored by the Interracial Justice Club.

Mr. Philip asserted that the housing problem arises from a prejudiced attitude making it difficult for Negroes to purchase homes outside certain areas. The Urban League, he explained, was organized 42 years ago to make democratic ideals more practical. Efforts of the organization were first directed toward industry, and much progress has been made in this direction.

Basketball—Looking Up

Coach Joe Biker casts an optimistic view towards this year's basketball schedule.

Opening of practice this year saw the largest turnout in the history of Aquinas, with 26 boys reporting for practice.

Besides the surprising turnout, the Tommies have the most experienced height in years, and Biker says that the team will be as good as last year's if not better. The only thing that worries Biker is the fact that practice is held only three nights a week, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Trying for the pivot spot are Dick Martin, 6' 7"; Mike Rabinowicz, 6' 2"; Ed Mekko, 6' 3"; and Joe Salvia, 6' 7". Putting their boot in for the front forward spot are Jack Smith, 6' 10"; Bob Pumford, 5' 9"; Lloyd Brown, 6' 4"; and Al Rodier, 5' 8". Eight forwards are Dave Edington, 5' 11"; Bob Oleszniak, 6' 1"; John Brown, 6' 0"; and Conrad Barber, 5' 9".
