The Aquinas Campus of 1931-1945 was located Downtown on the corner of Ramon and Fountain. A parking lot now occupies the site.

The Office of Field Experience is busily preparing for second semester. Already, students have secured career-related, full-time, semester-long, employment experiences for 12 hours of credit with a TV, a station, a Certified Public Accounting Firm, an Urban Planning Agency, a School for Emotionally Disturbed Children, and others.

There are numerous openings in the program still available to Sophomores, Juniors or Seniors who may want to select one of the positions waiting to be filled. Applications will be accepted for the Counselor Aide position in Florida for the Winter Semester only until November 10.

CAVA Involved

Who's afraid to get involved? Certainly not our CAVA volunteers. One of their biggest projects is involvement with the handicap patients at Mary Free Bed— which is a rehabilitation center for physically handicapped people. Here the CAVA volunteers started a recreational program that every patient can get involved in. Some of the activities include painting, projects for holidays, singing and playing on a piano.

This recreational program, started by CAVA is one of the most important programs CAVA has done at Mary Free Bed. Under the guidance of Sharon Kenyon, CAVA volunteers are helping tremendously in rehabilitating our handicapped patients here. Rachel Drysdale, Beth Ryan, Nancy Hansen, Sue Hansen, Barb Homick and Anna Lood.

The main function of Mary Free Bed is to help the handicapped to become independent in caring for themselves, and in most cases, become self-supporting. It also helps the individual learn how to cope with the world around them.
For most Aquinas students, this will be the first time you can vote for president. But, there are other important things on the ballot as well. It would be a shame not to remember even one of these elections. In fact you can ask yourself: do you know who you want to vote for? You can vote straight ticket. There are nine parties on the Michigan ballot. You also elect a President, Vice-President, U.S. Senator and Congressman on your national ballot.

On the state ballot are members of the State Board of Education, Representative in the House, members of the Boards for M.S.U., U. of M., and two judges. A non-partisan ballot for Justice of the Supreme Court is also there. Remember to vote for judicial candidates in this spot, for it is frequently overlooked.

Finally, the proposals brought before the people of the state are on the ballot. They are your voice on laws, amendments, and money proposals. Don’t forget them.

All of the above are on your state ballot, however there is much more on the ballot you get. County offices and local proposals make up the remainder of your November ballot.

Remember to vote and to vote. Don’t vote, and the choice is theirs. Vote or don’t complain about who was elected.

Douglas J. Klein

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

We in the United States tend to speak out of both sides of our mouths on the ballot. Politics is a matter of perception, and so is the vote. On one hand we speak of Democrats, but do we really try to examine the situation, would Democracy be better if we just let things slide? In a Democracy, candidates running for office should be given the same economic allowance for campaign expenditures, just as the United States specialty favored individuals, even the most meager till. In a Democracy candidates running for office should be given the same amount of media attention that our United States conservative newspapers receive, for it is the role of the media to present social change, saying that it can’t come too fast, and it will upset the nation. The argument that Mr. McGovern is given more television time than Mr. Nixon is a bit ludicrous. King Richard wished to remain secluded (a King in a Democracy?) because he seems to think that the nation’s heading elected official is answerable only to a select group who will dare not question the so-called intelligence of the nation. Any man who campaigns as a champion of the people, and with a weapon as powerful as a long bow and arrows, is also indiscriminately bombs bedazzled, bombs bedazzled, bombs bedazzled, bombs bedazzled, bombs bedazzled, bombs bedazzled. From this it turns one to think when political ideals are wrap up the opposition party’s head, or even worse, to lose the vote of responsible people.

In our nation really a Democracy or is it a continuation of a decaying continent? Cities rot, people go hungry, the air becomes polluted, fish die, the fisherman presents die needlessly, the rich make profits and the poor remain enslaved to drugs, alcohol, and the television set. Maybe a King is what we deserve.

"But the masters make the rules for the wise men and the fools but I got nothing ma campaii:ny expenditures, yet in the to live up to"

dylan

Kevin Hill

Calendar of Events

November 6: President Hurby’s Annual Report, Wege Ballroom 7 p.m.
November 10, 11, 12: Superbowl Weekend, events to be announced.
November 10, 11: Drama Production: Verge Carriage Theater, 8 p.m.
November 10: Film: The Learning Tree, Wege Auditorium, 8 p.m., $1.00
November 14: Vet’s Party, Dance with refreshments.
November 14 & 15: Film: Anne of a Thousand Days, sponsored by Alpha Theta.
November 16: Tom Leech One Man Show, Wege, Thursday November 25th.
Meeting the needs of students — that's the aim of the Aquinas College Bookstore which offers a selection of Aquinas clothing, stationery, mugs and glassware, gift items, office supplies and greeting cards, as well as books.

According to Mrs. Anne Oreste, bookstore manager, books are ordered direct from the publisher and must serve a wide variety of people, including students in the Career Action program, Eureka Religious Institute, Real Estate and regular classes.

"We have to have things all these people want, in a small area, always condemning a wide variety in a small space," says Mrs. Oreste, who is assisted by eight to ten part-time college employees plus two helpers, Mrs. Vi Previe and Mrs. Bernie McDermott. The bookstore has three cash registers for campus artists, and according to experts (little kids) around the immediate area, the bookstore has the best candy section in town. Mrs. Oreste, whose nickname is "Queen of the Bookstore" has a crown to better portray that image, and it is rumored that on her birthday, she wore a sign saying "Don't think of me as older, just sexier!"

Among special items available at the bookstore are class rings and other Aquinas jewelry which can be ordered, and a small and drug and toiletries selection stocked for convenience of students.

A section of new arrivals of paperback is at the front of the store, but for the most part everything is carried in textbooks for classes.

There is also an art supply section for campus artists, and according to experts (little kids) around the immediate area, the bookstore has the best candy section in town.

An Election Update

The Office of Field Experience is sponsoring a "Multi-Media Believe It or Not See What Field Experience Can Do For You" for you in the next four to six years. They are your voice. Your vote should reflect your ideals, beliefs and morals. For our part, we have been given a right to vote. The choice to vote is privilege, which can be used or wasted. If you wish to vote, the Precincts in the Grand Rapids are as follows:

West Side Precinct 1: St. Thomas School, 1429 Wilcox Dr. S.E.

Precinct 2: Methodist Church, 1100 Lake Dr. S.E.

Precinct 3: No. 11 Barnes House, Diamond Ave. at Chestor S.E.

Precinct 4: Congress School, Congress Ave. at Lake Dr. S.E.

The polls are open from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

If you are voting by absentee ballot, your ballot must be in your city clerk's office by 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday for it to count. Get out and vote Tuesday, November 7.

Filmmam continued from page 2

The Office of Field Experience is sponsoring a "Multi-Media Believe It or Not See What Field Experience Can Do For You" for you in the next four to six years. They are your voice. Your vote should reflect your ideals, beliefs and morals. For our part, we have been given a right to vote. The choice to vote is privilege, which can be used or wasted. If you wish to vote, the Precincts in the Grand Rapids are as follows:

West Side Precinct 1: St. Thomas School, 1429 Wilcox Dr. S.E.

Precinct 2: Methodist Church, 1100 Lake Dr. S.E.

Precinct 3: No. 11 Barnes House, Diamond Ave. at Chestor S.E.

Precinct 4: Congress School, Congress Ave. at Lake Dr. S.E.

The polls are open from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

If you are voting by absentee ballot, your ballot must be in your city clerk's office by 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday for it to count. Get out and vote Tuesday, November 7.

coming soon! help wanted! ph. 459-0931

beer - wine - mixed drinks

folk music

fegie's party store

1551 lake dr. s.e. 454-6316

 generation of peace

come november 7

paid for by the Kent County Republican Committee

beer - wine - mixed drinks

front door! a great rocker and the only one that Nilsson didn't write, but does it ever get down. It's filled with great riffs by Nicky Hopkins, Bobby Keys, and Peter Frampton.

There are eight more bands on the album and when they are totaled together they seem to be a pretty good indication that Harry Nilsson's days of writing embarrassing little songs for mundane television shows are all down and out.
Mr. Kahler feels his squad has two main weaknesses at the present time. First and foremost would be the team’s lack of overall height. With still a little over two weeks remaining before the varsity makes its first appearance, Coach Phil Kahler expressed great enthusiasm with respect to his ballclub this year. Kahler, beginning his fourth season at Aquinas, has posted three winning records thus far and he anticipates another good season from his ‘72–73 crew.

It is still very early, but some of Coach Kahler’s views on the upcoming season are:

Strong Points

As it appears right now the guard spots seem to be the major strength of this year’s Varsity. With juniors Pat Gnepper and Alan Kelley returning, Kahler feels he has good sound direction in both spots. Gnepper returning for his third Varsity season led all scorers last year with a 15.2 ave. He will be a key man in this year’s Aquinas attack.

One major advantage Kahler feels his team will have this season is that everyone will have run his offense for at least one year. He hopes to go more to a running game, but in order to run his team must be able to hit the boards consistently. John Larimer, a G-4 transfer student, should help relieve both problems. As of right now Kahler says the forward spots are up for grabs with a number of people having an equal shot at nailing down a starting spot. The big thing is getting off to a good start this year,” said Kahler. “We open up on the road and this could make or break us.” Kahler anticipates having a very exciting ballclub, which will represent the college well. He emphasized the importance of having his team work together, and also the need for support from the fans as in the past.

Weaknesses

C.C. Team Seeks Crown

by Pat Frawley

To say that Aquinas’ cross country team has performed outstandingly over the past month is indeed an understatement when considering the job Coach Flamino and his talented runners have done. The Tommies, since September 30, have shown great strength. Nothing could please Coach Flamino more than to have this strong winning enthusiasm remain with his squad as the all-important N.A.I.A. meet stands just one week away.

On Sept. 30, at Ohio State, the Tommies faced two powerhouses in Ohio State and W. Virginia. Before the meet Coach Flamino had hoped for one win, anticipating the stiff competition his team would be facing. However, by grabbing four of the first ten spots Aquinas took everything. Little Phil Hinck placed second with a 26:03, and he was followed by teammates Joe Caruso 5th, Dan Black 6th, and Ramero Garcia 8th. Team scores stood Aquinas 51, Ohio State 31; Aquinas 26, West Virginia 30.

Next, it was the Marion Invitational, which the Tomms won handily. In the impressive win over the fifteen team field, Aquinas winning margin ranged from 42 points all the way to 398. One again Hinck placed second. On October the 13th Aquinas participated in the always tough Notre Dame Invitational in South Bend. An off day prevented the Toms from finishing higher than 17th out of 30 teams. This was not been for the fact that Dan Black and Joe Caruso were both just recovering from the flu. Coach Flamino felt his team would have definitely placed in the top ten. Hinck led AQ with a 27:32 place finish and he was followed by Jerry Gumbletone who ran a strong 25:06 for the five mile course.

Faced by Phil Hinck’s 1st place finish, the Grand Valley Invitational was a runaway for AQ who completely outclassed the other seven participating schools. In total, Aquinas accumulated only 23 points as compared to 72 for second place Hillsdale.

As for his team’s chance in the district, he feels this year’s squad definitely has more potential than last year’s and if everyone is healthy he feels they have a real shot at the national title. Individually, Flamino said, “Phil Hinck is doing a great job, he has all-American potential”. He is also very pleased with his fine freshmen Dan Black, Joe Caruso, and Ramero Garcia, sophomore Jerry Gumbletone and the plans particularly pleased with John Car’s performance at Grand Valley.