He plays an old battered Fender that Buddy Holly used; he has toured Canada and Europe; he romps on stage as Jack the Lumberjack shirt; his music is Romps on stage in faded jeans and a sweater that Buddy Holly used; he has continued on page 4 earthly type music. Lomax Donigan was one of the best. He played real gutsy stuff from Leadbelly and American bluesman. Woody Guthrie and Muddy Waters were also important early influences.

After the showground's demise, Gallagher and the group's drummer and bassist formed Tusa, a hard rock group with a raunchy sound that was "demolished" audiences. The group's repertoire of performances secured a major following until Rory and company parted ways in late 1970 because of irreconcilable differences.

Free to choose his own backing musicians, Gallagher picked bassist Gerry McAvoy and drummer Willy Leadbely and American bluesman. The proposal on visitation changes in the dorms continues to be partially approved. The Board of Trustees did approve the expansion of visitation policy to 12:00 midnight. Sunday night hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight. A committee approach to evaluating the visitation program is proposed. The Committee will consist of a group of 3 school officials, 3 members of five Resident Advisors, a minimum of four of the six members of the committee. The committee will review the visitation schedules of those students who prefer to work on a small setting, using the State of Michigan. bottoms up for next year:

Chairman: Jim Bucur
Clara Kemm
Sue Siers

Vice-Chairman: Gerry Labode
Larry Peretti

Secretary: Danielle Grande
Michele Frash
Elections will be held on April 5 and 6.

Visitation

Regular meetings of the Writing Team has a tentative program for March 30-31. In the series, and the opportunity to participate in a discussion of the films, as they have been viewed. The result is a visitation—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The hours will be the same as Tuesday—1 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. The hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight.

A series of mini-courses offered on four week periods, weeks of library research, and two weeks of "Thought for Student Senate office preparation" combine to make the next 12 weeks of the semester. "These mini-courses will be offered by faculty members interested in a specific topic of concentration. This compensatory 12 week mini-courses will aid in the development of student effort and production. The first 12 weeks ends with a mini-course on curriculum.

Filmfest Unique

With five more weeks to go, the December is in full swing, and the interfaith effort now in its fifth year at the Aquinas College Information Center.

Among his albums are "Rory Gallagher," "Devil," and "Live in Europe." Gallagher's European tour and reviewed quite favorably. The high time Gallagher got the real recognition as a writer and guitarist." Reviewer James Johnson said, "It's not hard to imagine Gallagher bounding across stage. Says Gallagher:" I... music we play from the jungle and it makes it so you've got to move on stage."

At its regular meeting Tuesday, March 6, the Board of Trustees adopted at the meeting. The Board of Trustees also concurred with the recommendation of the Student Senate and the Opportunity to participation in a discussion. The opportunity to participate in a discussion of the films, as they have been viewed. The result is a visitation—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

The Series is partially approved. The Board of Trustees "The Cruise" March 27th and 28th (Rev. "The Duckers") March 31st and 4th (Rev. Concannon). March 20th and 21st (Adrian Swede) "The Crucial" March 27th and 28th (Rev. "The Ducks") "The Rodders" April 3rd and 4th (Rev. Conlan). The series is coordinated by an interfacing committee of the Paulist Guild and the Community Senate. The series is coordinated by an interfacing committee of the Paulist Guild and the Community Senate.

The result of approximately 30 meaningful freshmen experiences, this is what you would include. "The paper states the belief that being a student is a form of personal growth. These mini-courses will be offered by faculty members interested in a specific topic of concentration. This compensatory 12 week mini-courses will aid in the development of student effort and production. The first 12 weeks ends with a mini-course on curriculum.

The Freshman Writing Team has completed its position paper on the Aquinas freshmen experience. The paper will be presented to faculty, student members of the Academic Assembly, some administrators, resident advisor, and five freshmen. The proposal on visitation changes in the dorms continues to be partially approved. The Board of Trustees did approve the expansion of visitation policy to 12:00 midnight. Sunday night hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight. A committee approach to evaluating the visitation program is proposed. The Committee will consist of a group of 3 school officials, 3 members of five Resident Advisors, a minimum of four of the six members of the committee. The committee will review the visitation schedules of those students who prefer to work on a small setting, using the State of Michigan. bottoms up for next year:

Chairman: Jim Bucur
Clara Kemm
Sue Siers

Vice-Chairman: Gerry Labode
Larry Peretti

Secretary: Danielle Grande
Michele Frash
Elections will be held on April 5 and 6.

Visitation

Regular meetings of the Writing Team has a tentative program for March 30-31. In the series, and the opportunity to participate in a discussion of the films, as they have been viewed. The result is a visitation—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The hours will be the same as Tuesday—1 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. The hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight.

A series of mini-courses offered on four week periods, weeks of library research, and two weeks of "Thought for Student Senate office preparation" combine to make the next 12 weeks of the semester. "These mini-courses will be offered by faculty members interested in a specific topic of concentration. This compensatory 12 week mini-courses will aid in the development of student effort and production. The first 12 weeks ends with a mini-course on curriculum.

The Freshman Experience

The Freshman Writing Team has completed its position paper on the Aquinas freshmen experience. The paper will be presented to faculty, student members of the Academic Assembly, some administrators, resident advisor, and five freshmen. The proposal on visitation changes in the dorms continues to be partially approved. The Board of Trustees did approve the expansion of visitation policy to 12:00 midnight. Sunday night hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight. A committee approach to evaluating the visitation program is proposed. The Committee will consist of a group of 3 school officials, 3 members of five Resident Advisors, a minimum of four of the six members of the committee. The committee will review the visitation schedules of those students who prefer to work on a small setting, using the State of Michigan. bottoms up for next year:

Chairman: Jim Bucur
Clara Kemm
Sue Siers

Vice-Chairman: Gerry Labode
Larry Peretti

Secretary: Danielle Grande
Michele Frash
Elections will be held on April 5 and 6.

Visitation

Regular meetings of the Writing Team has a tentative program for March 30-31. In the series, and the opportunity to participate in a discussion of the films, as they have been viewed. The result is a visitation—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The hours will be the same as Tuesday—1 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. The hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight.

A series of mini-courses offered on four week periods, weeks of library research, and two weeks of "Thought for Student Senate office preparation" combine to make the next 12 weeks of the semester. "These mini-courses will be offered by faculty members interested in a specific topic of concentration. This compensatory 12 week mini-courses will aid in the development of student effort and production. The first 12 weeks ends with a mini-course on curriculum.

The Freshman Experience

The Freshman Writing Team has completed its position paper on the Aquinas freshmen experience. The paper will be presented to faculty, student members of the Academic Assembly, some administrators, resident advisor, and five freshmen. The proposal on visitation changes in the dorms continues to be partially approved. The Board of Trustees did approve the expansion of visitation policy to 12:00 midnight. Sunday night hours were also extended to 12:00 midnight. A committee approach to evaluating the visitation program is proposed. The Committee will consist of a group of 3 school officials, 3 members of five Resident Advisors, a minimum of four of the six members of the committee. The committee will review the visitation schedules of those students who prefer to work on a small setting, using the State of Michigan. bottoms up for next year:

Chairman: Jim Bucur
Clara Kemm
Sue Siers

Vice-Chairman: Gerry Labode
Larry Peretti

Secretary: Danielle Grande
Michele Frash
Elections will be held on April 5 and 6.
The Fallacy of Freedom

Nowadays, freedom is all-important to American Society. There are liberation movements, marches, unrestrained films and books, peace campaigns and freedom fights, and the word freedom on and on. Freedom is so big, so "hot", that everyone must get into the act. Colleges are one of those many lobbies that have decided to propound, and thereby exploit, freedom.

On page nine of the 1973-74 Aquinas College Bulletin, it is stated that "the role of the college today is to prepare students for a life of responsibility--freedom and responsibility is learned through everything that is learned, by experiencing it. This is certain..." In this context, if not in the function, of higher institutions of learning, I have no disagreement with this statement. But when the same paragraph goes on to say that, "Freedom of choice and acceptance of responsibility for that choice is the determining factor of life at Aquinas College," then I do have reason to argue. Perhaps at some universities this is true, but at Aquinas College it definitely is not.

Recently, a proposal prepared by the Community Senate to alter Aquinas dormitory visitation rules was put forward. Among other things, this proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal easily passed by more than a three-fourths majority. The student body and refereeing system that this publication expounds is not a democracy or a free society. Freedom of the press is not the annual puts forth in writing to send out to prospective students? It capitalizes on freedom in an attempt to lure new students to fig grflSgg "proposal, most notably the section dealing with nightly visitation on (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays). Given to the students to vote upon, the proposal included a change to 24 hour visitation on weekends (Fridays and Saturdays)."
This Is Your Life
Another American Crisis

by Kevin Hill

A general feeling of naivatis has swept our country, as the war with the signing of the so-called peace settlement in Vietnam. Just as our consciences were about to get a rest however, the continuing plight of the native American was resurrected at Wounded Knee, South Dakota. It's a shame that such a significant incident will soon be forgotten. We Americans are left with a funny sense when it comes to remembering things historical. We tend to ignore the many injustices that have been committed and give all the highlights a white wash. This comes to my mind because as stories of the Indian massacres were appearing in newspapers I couldn't ever recall having received any sort of adequate educational background about any peoples, particularly the Indians. I'm not saying that all the groups haven't been passed off, it's just that when we study about America we totally neglect those who were here before us. The situation really hit me hard because like other marks against United States policies, we hide what's really blatant and try to suggest the rest. While persons comprise only one third of the world's population, yet if it were left up to basic educational and other books used in American institutions as a whole, we would get the idea that the world was made to be a flocking spot for the non-colored. It's true that some people are trying to rectify the mistake. I have been told that a small group almost any little kid can answer the question "Why did the Indians fight?" so I have lost hope, despite the fact that we did find something the Europeans couldn't, we are no better. The Americans were here long before he was, regardless of what we have done to his ancestors. We have practiced things might have could preserved the earth and the sour and the situation which brought about the conflagration will remain. Americans as a whole are left to base on their own religious attitudes. To refuse to do this is to deny that one of us is equal. For those of us who believe things should be better, we can only hope freaks will remain. Americans as a whole had better redefine their racial attitudes. To refuse to do this is to allow them to get through the day and all claims of getting high are just a smokescreen.

Upper Tips (Stiff)

by David F. Dean

It's been a hard day at the House of Lords, and a member of the group, John Gurney has been a bit inconsistent. Perhaps this was because there were many males in the chorus, who sounded like an innitening noise behind the cavalcade falling down on select distractions added to a poor production. At another time, a gate (one of the stage props) fell down on select members of the chorus when it was supposed to be stationary.

The musical score to the opera was quite good, according to the accompaniments by Debbie Bosits and other books used in American educational and other educational institutions as a whole. We would get the idea that the world was made to be a flocking spot for the non-colored. It's true that some people are trying to rectify the mistake. I have been told that a small group almost any little kid can answer the question "Why did the Indians fight?" so I have lost hope, despite the fact that we did find something the Europeans couldn't, we are no better. The Americans were here long before he was, regardless of what we have done to his ancestors. We have practiced things might have could preserved the earth and the sour and the situation which brought about the conflagration will remain. Americans as a whole are left to base on their own religious attitudes. To refuse to do this is to deny that one of us is equal. For those of us who believe things should be better, we can only hope freaks will remain. Americans as a whole had better redefine their racial attitudes. To refuse to do this is to allow them to get through the day and all claims of getting high are just a smokescreen.

Opera (?) by Scott Wigerman

The Aquinas Opera Workshop's presentation of Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana was certainly something to be missed. Both the setting and the singers left much to be desired. It was hardly worthy of being labelled a college production. It opened with Turridu, played by Marvin Meitz, singing a love song. Totally misfit, Meitz was the main reason for the opera's sparse quality. With a quiet and feminine voice, he would have been more suitable for Turridu as a soldier or a lover. Kojiro, played by Sanzrana, Turridu's gifted love. Any spice and depth in the opera would have to be attributed to her. Mattano was excellent and her singing proved her vast talent. Unfortunately, Mattano was not the only one in the opera.

The other main characters, Mama Lucia (Marylynn Paul), Alfo (Dars Creager), and Lola (Nathalie Gehabiks) seemed little to the success of the opera. While the Winding Road in the Guthrie had been a better Turridu, though the voice of Sanzrana, Gehabiks was unable to fill the role of Lola convincingly, despite her fine singing. Paul played Mama Lucia as if she were a statue and looked much too youthful for the role.

To put it bluntly, the chorus was really bad. They were completely out of harmony. Perhaps this was because there were many males in the chorus, who sounded like an innitening noise behind the cavalcade falling down on select distractions added to a poor production. At another time, a gate (one of the stage props) fell down on select members of the chorus when it was supposed to be stationary.

The musical score to the opera was quite good, according to the accompaniments by Debbie Bosits and other books used in American educational and other educational institutions as a whole. We would get the idea that the world was made to be a flocking spot for the non-colored. It's true that some people are trying to rectify the mistake. I have been told that a small group almost any little kid can answer the question "Why did the Indians fight?" so I have lost hope, despite the fact that we did find something the Europeans couldn't, we are no better. The Americans were here long before he was, regardless of what we have done to his ancestors. We have practiced things might have could preserved the earth and the sour and the situation which brought about the conflagration will remain. Americans as a whole are left to base on their own religious attitudes. To refuse to do this is to deny that one of us is equal. For those of us who believe things should be better, we can only hope freaks will remain. Americans as a whole had better redefine their racial attitudes. To refuse to do this is to allow them to get through the day and all claims of getting high are just a smokescreen.

NEW AND DIFFERENT!

(Next to Eastbrook Theatre)

The Original Double Deck Hamburger & Other Big Boy Favorites Along With SPIRITED BEVERAGES!

BEAT THE CLOCK-
Every Afternoon 3:30-5:30
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
11 AM TO 2 AM
PITCHERS... OIL $2.00!
Freshmen Approaches continued from page 1

member of the Writing Team, has written a minority report, in which he devised his personal concept of the freshmen experience. Bernard has devised an approach to the freshmen lifestyle development using a basis in audiovisual materials. It involves movies and tapes of famous personalities, and films of different parts of the world, places, etc. "People are the greatest resources in the world," he said, when discussing his approach to the freshmen experience. Bernard devised his personal concept of member of the Writing Team, has using a basis in audiovisual tapes of famous personalities, and films of different parts of the world, places, etc. "People are the greatest resources in the world," he said, when discussing his biographical approach to the freshmen experience. Bernard has devised his personal concept of member of the Writing Team, has devised his personal concept ofained his personal concept of

Basketball Begins
Continued from page 1

with basketball season not even one month gone, the talk is that AQ will be in Kansas City come this time next year. Aquinas, which finished the year with a very respectable 16-10 record, was voted out of the N.A.I.A. districts this year. However with only 3 serious gone from the season's team, things have got to look optimistic for Coach Kabler's squad next year.

Two Grand Rapids all-collegiate performers in Al Kewser and Dennis Spawling will be returning along with the bookstore.

Baseball Begins

by Pat Frawley

Last year's Aquinas Baseball team recorded the first winning record in the school's baseball history, and also received Aquinas' first bid to the N.A.I.A. District Tournament.

With the season opener still a couple of weeks off, 2nd year Coach Terry Bocian is very optimistic, and sets as the team's goal the achieving of a better record than last year's, which stood 13-9. "We're a very young team," Bocian said, "and could be a year away from being excellent, however a lot depends on how the kids mature."

"Bo" has three top returnees in Mike Butcher, Paul Nut and Paul Deppper, all of whom made All-District in the N.A.I.A. He also will receive a great deal of help from J.C. transfers Jerry Orent and Mike Despres, both infielders and selections on the Grand Rapids All-Collegiate Team of last year.

Also back from last year's team will be Don Mahler, Jim Yeger, Scott Marutz, Mike Shreve and Dennis Molnar. Top freshman prospect looks to be basketballers John Wiersman, an infielder, and Jim Ainslie, a pitcher, along with Dick Ober, Mark Quinn, Eric Swanson and Gary Tarrolli.

The season will open in April with a twin bill against Olivet at home.

Season Ends

by Pat Frawley

With basketball season not even one month gone, the talk is that AQ will be in Kansas City come this time next year. Aquinas, which finished the year with a very respectable 16-10 record, was voted out of the N.A.I.A. districts this year. However with only 3 serious gone from the season's team, things have got to look optimistic for Coach Kabler's squad next year.

Two Grand Rapids all-collegiate performers in Al Kewser and Dennis Spawling will be returning along with the bookstore.

Baseball Begins

by Pat Frawley

Last year's Aquinas Baseball team recorded the first winning record in the school's baseball history, and also received Aquinas' first bid to the N.A.I.A. District Tournament.

With the season opener still a couple of weeks off, 2nd year Coach Terry Bocian is very optimistic, and sets as the team's goal the achieving of a better record than last year's, which stood 13-9. "We're a very young team," Bocian said, "and could be a year away from being excellent, however a lot depends on how the kids mature."

"Bo" has three top returnees in Mike Butcher, Paul Nut and Paul Deppper, all of whom made All-District in the N.A.I.A. He also will receive a great deal of help from J.C. transfers Jerry Orent and Mike Despres, both infielders and selections on the Grand Rapids All-Collegiate Team of last year.

Also back from last year's team will be Don Mahler, Jim Yeger, Scott Marutz, Mike Shreve and Dennis Molnar. Top freshman prospect looks to be basketballers John Wiersman, an infielder, and Jim Ainslie, a pitcher, along with Dick Ober, Mark Quinn, Eric Swanson and Gary Tarrolli.

The season will open in April with a twin bill against Olivet at home.

Season Ends

by Pat Frawley

With basketball season not even one month gone, the talk is that AQ will be in Kansas City come this time next year. Aquinas, which finished the year with a very respectable 16-10 record, was voted out of the N.A.I.A. districts this year. However with only 3 serious gone from the season's team, things have got to look optimistic for Coach Kabler's squad next year.

Two Grand Rapids all-collegiate performers in Al Kewser and Dennis Spawling will be returning along with the bookstore.

Baseball Begins

by Pat Frawley

Last year's Aquinas Baseball team recorded the first winning record in the school's baseball history, and also received Aquinas' first bid to the N.A.I.A. District Tournament.

With the season opener still a couple of weeks off, 2nd year Coach Terry Bocian is very optimistic, and sets as the team's goal the achieving of a better record than last year's, which stood 13-9. "We're a very young team," Bocian said, "and could be a year away from being excellent, however a lot depends on how the kids mature."

"Bo" has three top returnees in Mike Butcher, Paul Nut and Paul Deppper, all of whom made All-District in the N.A.I.A. He also will receive a great deal of help from J.C. transfers Jerry Orent and Mike Despres, both infielders and selections on the Grand Rapids All-Collegiate Team of last year.

Also back from last year's team will be Don Mahler, Jim Yeger, Scott Marutz, Mike Shreve and Dennis Molnar. Top freshman prospect looks to be basketballers John Wiersman, an infielder, and Jim Ainslie, a pitcher, along with Dick Ober, Mark Quinn, Eric Swanson and Gary Tarrolli.

The season will open in April with a twin bill against Olivet at home.