A meeting was held on April 12, 1973 at Regina Louise to discuss the problems of the different groups at Aquinas with the recruitment practices of the athletic department, not only in terms of recruiting minority personnel, but also in terms of the treatment of minority personnel and circumstantial exclusion of its surrounding community.

One of the problems was the treatment of minorities. The MSU made clear their position on the subject. The MSU stated that they had made a fair opportunity to see minority students.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

regret that an extended business trip will prevent me from attending the last Commencement exercises. However, through the medium of the Sunrise, we would like to extend our very best wishes to the graduating class. I sincerely hope that you found Aquinas to be a stimulating place to develop your imagination and to shape your life. Good luck to each of you.

R. V. Paolucci

Trustee

To the Editor:

The Street Fair was a success because people made it that way. There were many people who contributed, but I would personally like to thank those who helped me, one because they got out of bed at 7:00 A.M. Saturday, April 28th, to set up, some for working/playing during the day, and others for taking down and cleaning up. These people are: Randy Loga, Mary LaVoy, Mike Zagaroli, John Donahue, Forrest Cook, Ramiro Garcia, Frank Conkin, Ed Longworth, Jeff Delabie, Tim Merkal, Bill Bruce, Bernie Nor, Perry Gumbleton, Ryan Sexton, Scott Wiggerman, Larry Nierman, Debbie Boyle, Debbie Martin, Lidia Perfili, Pat Moskey, Mary Pat Curran, Mary Liehnert, Mary McCormick, Paul Goulson, John Haley, and if I've forgotten anyone, I apologize, you are very much. Favo to good people.

Meaning Sought

by Kay Francis Johnson

When was the last time you opened a magazine, read a newspaper, or turned on a television or radio? What did you see or hear? I wager that someone was selling you something and probably by appealing to your materialistic nature instead of your intellectual one. You see lovely ladies riding in cars sensuously dressed with infinite expressions on their faces. They try to sell you beauty, charm, pleasure, and a new lease on life. Let down your inhibitions, buy their desires, reject anything and everything that makes you feel good, and buy those things with what you want.

Responsibility, who needs or wants it. There are too many means of enjoyment and diversion that you would miss if you took on responsibility and became your own person. People expect things of you, and it is so much easier and beneficial to conform and float along with the mainstream of society. The tide floats in and the tide floats out. WHOOPEE! Life is all a great game that is a lot of fun. That is what you really need in life—FUN!-

Get rid of your problems with some Vote toothpaste and Scotch mouthwash. A little Head and Shouders and Dial soap will complete the job and our perfection in humanity. Your personality is now flawless. After all you swing with the hippie, go to a friendship meeting, get lost in the Gay Movement to go to all of the prepackaged menus, smoke the coolest brand of cigarettes, and wear a white shirt with a hip pocket label. At one time you listened to Simon and Garfunkel and read Claude Wilcke, but who needs ya besides, it took too much concentration to understand them and we were no fun.

You use to think that there was such a thing as love. How imbecile. You have Trouble with its romantic and spiritual connotations disguises an intricate method you can employ to make others undesirable to you so that you can better concentrate on your little mind finally because expanded beyond your own little frame and of all other so-called absolutes, to a world of concepts that hindered your evolution. Now you are really live and create. You are free.

You are, you are free, Life, the world, and everyone and everything in it are your playground. Do whatever you want to do. It doesn't matter who suffers as a result. That is totally insignificant. That is what you need, want, and desire. You are omnipotent. Only you have to answer to anyone. You are a god; what need have you for another?

Work hard now; you must make a lot of money so that you can have three cars if the Joneses have two, and two color televisions when your neighbors only have one. These are the important things in life. People use for stepping stones if you are paranoid about them. All these blocks moved in heat door. Now you'll have to move. But you'll love this. They'll love it too in there to.
The EMMIGRANTS is about dreams, illusions, and misconceptions, and we know that they are painful misunderstandings, and that they are painful misconceptions, and we know they're coming, you miss half the fun. And "Sleuth" is fun.

A great deal of the fun, naturally, comes from the terrific performances by Lawrence Olivier and Michael Caine (who finally has a role worthy of his talents). They play off each other all the time. They taunt, bodger, attack and attempt to oust each other to the extent that you never really know who has the upper hand—and then it's too late. They constantly catch you off-guard, and that's the beauty of Anthony Shaffer's fascinating script. You never know more than the characters—or credit designer Ken Adam for creating a fantastic atmospheric setting that starts out engrossing, then terrifying. Director Joseph P. Mankiewicz constantly cuts in close-ups of the toys and games around Olivier's manor house; you think it's somewhat distracting until the final scene, when you realize that he's been subtly preparing you for the claustrophobic nightmare that...

I'm doing too much (not really). Don't pay attention to what anyone says. Just go. Have a good time. And a good summer. SERIOUS CINEMA LIVES! (in Hartings)

With all our present concern with information revolution or the media, it's human nature for the government to use the media through radio and television in order to influence public opinion. It's easy, with the power of the television pictures, to frighten or mislead the public. With the help of the radio and television, we have the means to influence public opinion, and we have the means to educate the people. In this connection, it is necessary to know the extent of the influence of the radio and television in its daily life and in the lives of the people. The government should be aware of this, and it should do its utmost to prevent the use of the radio and television for propaganda purposes to mislead the people.

As for the question of who is to blame for the failure of the EMMIGRANTS, it is not our fault. It is the fault of the government and the public. It is the fault of the people themselves. They have been misled by the government and the public into believing that the EMMIGRANTS is a failure because it is not a success.

The EMMIGRANTS is not a failure. It is a success. It is a great film. It is a great achievement. It is a great contribution to the art of cinema. It is a great work of art. It is a masterpiece. It is a classic. It is a timeless work of art.

The EMMIGRANTS is a work of art that has stood the test of time. It is a film that has been recognized as a masterpiece. It is a film that has been praised by critics and audiences alike. It is a film that has been studied and analyzed by film scholars.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its style, its direction, its acting, its script, its music, and its cinematography. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to captivate the audience and to hold their attention.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to convey a message. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make a point. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to challenge the audience to think.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to be entertaining. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to be funny. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to be poignant. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to be moving.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to be thought-provoking. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make the audience think. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make the audience question their beliefs.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to be inspiring. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make the audience feel good. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make the audience feel happy. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to make the audience feel inspired.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to be educational. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to teach. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to educate. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to inform.

The EMMIGRANTS is a film that has been admired for its ability to be entertaining, thought-provoking, inspiring, educational, and moving. It is a film that has been admired for its ability to be a masterpiece.
Aquinas failed to defend its district championship Wednesday, May 2, coming in second place to Hillsdale College. Despite duplicating last year's winning total of 74 points, the performance fell six points short of Hillsdale's 80. Ferris State finished third with 63 points.

Aquinas took six firsts during the day, including two by musclemen Tom Carr. Carr excelled in the 120 high hurdles with Mike Butcher with a 15:44.5, the performance fell six points short of Hillsdale's 80.

Other members of the track team who placed elsewhere included freshman Dave Barries (a fourth in the mile and a fifth in the 880), Dave Leighlton (a third in the 440), Dan Black (a fifth in the three-mile), Bob Walters (a third in the javelin), Bill Hebert (a third in both the triple and high jump), and Ron Dougherty (a fifth in the pole vault).

The Aquinas tennis team as of May 6th maintains a 5 and 2 record 14 wins, 2 losses. Facing up Spring Arbor on May 4th, Russian's team looks as if it could make things tough for Ferris State (defending champ) in the districts.

At Spring Arbor the Tommies swept all the doubles matches and took four of the six singles contests.

On the track, Aquinas finished 5-0 indoor, finishing 2nd to Ferris in the districts while they finished the outdoor season second to Hillsdale.

Tom Carr took district honors in both the hammer and the discuss for another strong performance this season.

Consequently, group housing, such as apartment buildings just for older people, staffed with at least a nurse would solve many of these problems. A meal service could be provided for those who might require it and a security staff would allow the residents to keep their doors open for visitors without fear of robbery or injury.

An idea initiated by the colleges of New York is the free tuition for retired residents to any class which is not filled by regular paying students. This allows the people who have paid taxes for years to support higher education to, at long last, experience it directly. After retirement the retiree has time on his hands but no money and not everyone becomes wealthy at 60, so some would really enjoy the continuing stimulation that a class might offer. This way they could afford to do it. How many empty seats are available in classes at Aquinas?*

Happy Birthday, Rosie! Love, Daryl

Liggett pointed out two problems that loom over the aid program. The greatest, "Pamela can't always contribute what the Parent's Confidential Statement says they are able to." And a related one: Aid based on need can sometimes favor the spendthrifts who only appear financially needy, while the students who have saved their earnings and sacrificed to improve the school—now it should be done.

One very strange case acknowledged by Liggett involved the suggestion to one family that they buy a new car in order to keep their son in school. They were forced to buy the car prematurely to keep their son in school. Such are the deficiencies of the system, but, as Liggett carefully pointed out, he is subject to very strict guidelines in determining aid recipients, and in many cases regulations accompanying this federal aid allotment are minimal aid or, more likely, none at all.

As the Sunrise Sports Editor, I would like to take this time to thank all of the coaching staff and the entire athletic department for their cooperation and assistance. I have enjoyed the opportunity to write about Aquinas athletics.

Ag Activities Discussed

Group picnics, fairs, campouts, etc. for all Aquinas.

Providing this information to other college's events (including concerts, plays, etc.)

Allowing students the school's cars for their own needs.

Having fun activities in areas such as art (e.g. fingerpainting sessions) and drama (e.g. open theater experiences.)

Increased choices of things to do.

Dealing with people who do not drink beer by providing more than just beer parties.

Other things were discussed, but as Scott Wiggerman continued, "If I go on about every thing that is needed is definite action taken toward fulfilling the obvious student needs. Whether this is taken is another things. The students have responded in positive way to show the school—now it should be done.

with all of those runs on the board, you need a hitting parade. Well, need it or not the Tommies have sure had it. Posting an earned run average 10.00, best in the NAIA District, Aquinas hurled a strong staff that has been second to none. Sophomore Scott Marutz is 4-0 with an ERA of 1.6 and all NAIA. Disaster experienced this season, Paul Nat is off to another fine year with a 4-3 record. Mark Quinn and Jim Alinare have given strong support with 3 and 2 victories a piece.

With the continued success in the future, Aquinas looks to have a tremendous shot at capturing the NAIA district crown. Good luck to Coach Bocian and his ball club.
