Seven Returning Lettermen Bolster Baseball Aspirations

A strong infield and an alert outfield will be provided by Joe Hainer, a bright outlook for his baseball squad. There are seven returning lettermen and many newcomers. The "Tomcats" first contest is April 18 against Grand Rapids.

James Keller

Junior college. The previously scheduled opener against Calvin will be rescheduled on to a doubleheader on May 16. Jim Keller, a junior and product of Grand Rapids, has been doing most of the pitching for the past two seasons. Bid­der, however, is planning to use Jim as a catcher as well as a pitcher because of an arm injury.

Larry Bayer, sophomore from G.R.C.C., will be seeing considerable action at first base. Ray Hart­well, a junior and one of the better outfielders and sluggers on the team will be placing Bayer for first base.

At shortstop is Terry McSweeney, junior from G.R.C.C. Tony Baza, sophomore from Guam and a good hitter, has been playing third base. Ron Russell, sopho­more from G.R.C.C., will be mov­ing around the infield, particularly from third base to pitcher.

Trying for infield positions are juniors George Riley at first; fresh­men Pat Ladda and Bill Pasin­ault at second; and freshman Pete Shipley at third.

Snow Makes Topic For Conversation

Michigan winters are a topic of conversation among the inhabi­tants of the state, as well as a frequent source of discomfort. So it was safe to assume that there would be quite a reaction among Aquinas students from warmer climes.

When interviewed by the Aquin­as Herald last October, several of those students expressed a desire to see snow for the first time. Now, holding to a promise made at that time, the opinions of those students have been obtained.

One of those students is Gloria Lee. Tom, Kingston, Jamaica. Freshman, Gloria stated that win­ter is "All right, but I'm sick and tired of all this snow and the cold. I like it for a few months, but not so long." Gloria said she is looking forward to seeing what spring will bring. "Besides, summer will be here soon and that's what I'm looking forward to, who wouldn't!"

When asked if she would like to have snow in Jamaica, Gloria re­sponded that she would not mind it if the snow only lasted for three months and not as long as it does in Michigan.

Strictly for the Alumni

By Janet Hammer

Here's a list of events scheduled for the coming months. On May 10, the annual May's Day will take place, so get the little kids ready to show off. Molly Bren­ner is chairman of the affair.

President Lyle Morrison has set June 5 as the date for the annual alumni meeting. William Alexand­er has been named to head the nominating committee which se­lects candidates for the coming year.

 Sister Marie Celeste (the ghost writer of the alumni—she does all the work, seldom gets the glory) tells me that at a recent meeting she attended at Michigan State she heard nothing but praise about Joseph Engemann, who is an as­istant in the Biology Department there.

 Sister says the commendable work of Aquinas alumni is often brought to her attention. Another assistant who is doing fine work at Michigan State is Charles Kepp, Ho and Mrs. (Pat Geoghan) recently visited Aquinas with their little daughter, Mary Margaret. Dr. Joseph McNamoo, who does a bit of column writing for labor magazines, recently came to Grand Rapids for the C.I.O.-A.F.L. con­vention. Dr. McNamoo is on the board of control. During the sum­mer, he is co-owner of Camp Pet­erson for boys near Har­bor Springs.

Mrs. Neil McNamoo (Batty Meece) invites her alumni friends to New York in and to see her. The address is 386 Clinton, Brooklyn.

Something new in the wind is an alumni family picnic for the sum­mer time. Baseball, food and bruised knee! Let Lyle know if you like the idea.

Could the New Building Be called “Msgr. Bukowski Hall”?

It has come to my attention that the faculty has sent a letter offering the suggestion that the new building be named “Msgr. Bukowski Hall.” The name “Administration Building” is faultily placed. Because of this, changing the name would not involve any cost. Msgr. Bukowski has done so much for Aquinas during his tenure as President.

John Ronan

President, Student Senate

We, the Editors, were very glad to receive this comment from Mr. Ronan. We would agree with him wholeheartedly. We can think of no person more deserving of such an honor than Msgr. Bukowski and we see no reason to wait until after his death to award it. We realize that because Msgr. Bukowski has spent so much of his life in the situation it might be embarrassing for him. However, we feel that he is especially deserving of this honor.

We are only suggesting that this action be taken and we will gladly abide by any decision handed down. We can furnish the school with a suitable name and will be duly considered and that this opportunity to honor Msgr. Bukowski will not be lost.

Do Catholic College Graduates Exercise Enough Apostolic Zeal?

"Why shouldn't Catholic college great-teacher-training scholarships in terms of a pledge to give a limited number of years of service (in parochial schools) immediately after graduation? This is from an editorial in the Catholic Weekly. It asserts that Catholic scholars who are given only to persons with "apostolic vision." If Aquinas offered scholarships to high school seniors who were willing to teach in parochial schools, how many graduates would accept the terms?

Few eighteen-year-olds have much idea of teaching. But since the present trend of low salaries in a parish school is chilling to those with superior gifts — the "scholarship material" —

Further, how would Aquinas or other colleges know whether the students had "apostolic vision in scholarship applicants? For that matter can a college look at its senior class, and decide after four years which members have apostolic vision and which don't? The Catholic paper continues that Catholic college graduates "display remarkably little apostolic zeal and exercise remarkably little apostolic zeal."

Sally Cyr Orgren, in a letter of protest to the Catholic Weekly points out that the scheme was to release his tiger. The following who died recently:
