New Buildings Will Meet Present, Future Needs

Fitted above are two of the four buildings that Aquinas seeks to provide in the near future. "A new science building is a must," says Rev. R. Magr. Arthur Bukowski, president. "Our present structure, which was formerly the coach house of the Lowe estate, is entirely inadequate."

"Sister Noella, O.P., associate professor of history, died Dec. 29 after an illness of several months. The funeral Mass was celebrated by Msgr. A. F. Bukowski in Sacred Heart Chapel at Marywood, Dec. 29. Sr. Noella was born in Schwartz Creek, Mich., and entered the Dominican Order in 1914. She received her A. B. degree in history from Aquinas College and her M. A. degree from the Catholic University of America. She did additional graduate work at the University of Michigan, University of Detroit, and Notre Dame university."

Living Memorial Plan

To the Students of Aquinas:

The Aquinas College Group Hospital plan is starting its second year of protection for the students and faculty. A special visit to this existance by the Student Senate a year ago and was endorsed by the administration. That the students recognize the advantage of this type of broad protection is shown by the increase in enrollment in the plan last September.

There are many reasons why the students are required to purchase individual coverage at their own. Most family plans do not cover dependents, unless the student is a member of the family.

The available plan provides coverage for accidents and illness, and covers student travelers at work both during the school year and in the summer. During the summer paid positions will be available to students at present. Positions are offered at various German, Italian, Scandinavian, England, Austria, Switzerland, France, and Spain. The plans also consist of the College Medical Center, hospital, and construction work; and also some jobs involving engineering.

The purpose of this program is to afford the student an opportunity to get into real living contact with the people and culture of Europe. This idea is especially beneficial to students majoring or minoring in the humanities. It is possible to travel with the student, for he or she will receive room and board, plus a wage. However, those students should keep in mind that they will be working on the European economy, and wage scales are not very high.

There is also an excellent opportunity to see Europe the right way, by working with it. For further information, see Mrs. Prange. The health center, and Mrs. Prange can be contacted at any time in case of emergency. This is a very worthwhile service, and deserves student recognition.

If a person wishes, he can designate a specific item in honor of the memory of his dear one, on behalf of his firm or business associates, or in the name of his family. Classroom interiors, room furnishings, cherub, and statues are only a few of the items that can be named.

Since in the long run we, the students of Aquinas, will be the beneficiaries, we are requested to use our talents in the support of the campaign. What can we do best? As has been manifested often, most students, regardless of class standing, have the ability to talk. We can talk on any subject, to anyone we feel might be a future contributor and speak on the subject for as long as we can.

Secondary Education Class Begins 9-Week Training

Twenty-two students from Aqui­nas have begun careers in sec­ondary teaching. Those participat­ing in the directed teaching pro­gram began Jan. 27 and will continue for nine weeks, teaching two hours daily.

Those teaching in the Grand Rapids junior high schools and critical teachers are as follows: John Sterling, bookkeeping, South, Mrs. Helen Thorpe; Donald Blasutis, his­tory, Cre­ston, Mrs. Evelyn O'Brien

Catholic Book Week, Feb. 22-28 features the theme "Share Truth, Speed Faith." Lists of the best in Catholic reading will be avail­able to the library.

In connection with this week, Sister Rose Carlita, O.P., will speak to the students of St. Alphonsus on "A Book Cruise," and Sister Harriet, O.P., will address Marywood stu­dents, on "Declare Your Reading," in a clarinet and voice program, Feb. 27.

Dorothy Wenzel, on "Your Child and Books" at Moore, history, Muskegon High, Feb. 3.

Joseph Janik, mathematics, Forest Hills, Mr. D. M. Van Landingham; Mrs. Colleen Tizard; Frederick Beckett, history, Hudsonville, Mrs. Margaret Reeves; Eunice Gunn, English, Union, Mrs. Dona-Jean Souter; David Johnson, govern­ment, Central, Miss Enid Combs; Thomas Poltrock, physics and chemistry, Union, Mr. Wallace Ford; Margaret Fitzgerald, history, Central, Mrs. Margaret Bezmeier.

In connection with this week, Sister M. Mildred, O.P., dean, presented tokens of appreciation to 17 members of the history department for their work during the past year. The tokens were presented for the following services: Marion Dole, member of the history department for eight years; Mrs. Mary DeWeese, who has been a member of the department for three years; Mrs. Jane Rice, who served one year; Sister M. Theresa, O.P., who served half a year; and Sister Mary Anne, O.P., who served one year.

One of the old timers in length of service here at Aquinas is senior George D. Colburn. Entering into the Administration building in its first year of operations, George feels he has been here quite a long time since he graduated from Detroit Catholic Central in 1956. One of his major interests lies in the field of journalism. After his graduation in June (he hopes), he intends to further this promis­ing future with study at journalism school at one of the major uni­versities.

Admitting he awoke early most of his first year and a half here, George has taken on an active role in school activities since then.

April 5 - Monthly Meeting —
March 15 - Day of Recollection, second semester. Director of the Third Order, of St. John Vianney, and Janet Van Leu­en.

To paraphrase Annie Mamo, "Life is a banquet, but most people are so busy at all day in a fast-day," contends Agnes Eick, part Grand Rapids junior.

Currently Women's league pres­i­dent, Agnes is also secretary of the Aquinas chapter of Philo­sophy.

Thomas Casalietto, junior from Chicago, has been named student representative on the library com­mittee.

Gama Alpha Pi will present Jack Forman, G.E. senior, and Riley Denny, Jr., Saginaw senior, in a clarinet and voice program, Jan. 28, at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital hall. Accompanists are Larry Lefebre, senior and Joseph Westbury, G.E. sophomore; pro­gramme consists of selected choral and instrumental numbers.

In his sophomore year, George began writing for the Aquinas Herald and leased his basketball abilities (eight) to Peto Stobie's outstanding reserve team. The fol­lowing year he became sports editor of the Herald, and was elected Spanish club president. Currently in his junior year, George plans to further his interest in the sports department of both the Herald and Thom.

He is one of Mr. Clinton's history students and is aiming at a minor in English.

George's favorite pastime (be­fore he turned 21) was traveling in his '49 Chev. that he claims had no equal. He carried this pastime to extremes last summer with only the Pacific Ocean stopping him.

George attributes the major part of his success in life so far to the indispensable help and aid given by him by two his two pugacious room mates.

The basketball squad move from gym to gym to practice all different hours, even travel 120 miles round trip for two hours of practice. They play 10 home games in 5 different gyms.

And what reward do they reap for their hard labors? Generally about 150 people turn out to see the team perform. More people would turn out for a break show if it were offered free.

Even for the combined interest of rivalry and homecoming, Aquinas could not get rid of even half of the free student tickets for the Calvin game, although the game produced the best Aquinas crowd of the year.

The players will all say it is no fun playing before an empty house. The same faces would be there, win, lose or draw. To them must go a great deal of credit for their faithful support.

The final three games of the season are at home and two of them will be played this weekend. The first will be against Eastern Michigan Feb. 23. The last two, Feb. 26, will be against Michigan State and Michigan Tech. The latter two are teams that have played well against us during the past two seasons. There is no doubt that they will be better prepared to meet them this season and they will give us a lot of trouble.

The basketball squad moved to San Antonio, Texas, to play a game against the University of Texas Tech in the National Invitational Tournament. The team was there for two hours of practice before the game and then played a game against the Texas Tech team. The game was won by Aquinas, 76-74, in overtime. The Aquinas team played well and had a good chance of winning the game. The team was able to score more points than the Texas Tech team and this gave them the victory.

The team's performance was impressive and they were able to maintain a good lead throughout most of the game. In the overtime period, the team was able to keep the lead and eventually win the game. The Aquinas team's performance was a testament to their hard work and dedication to the sport.

The Aquinas team continued to play well throughout the rest of the season, winning several more games and improving their overall record. Their hard work and dedication paid off as they were able to achieve a higher ranking in the league.
