Gala Weekend Accelerates Pace

Wheels of Progress keynotes the biggest and best event on Aquinas’ social calendar, Gala Weekend, and change seems to be the order of the day. Many innovations will mark this year’s celebration, Oct. 19-21, under the co-chairmanship of Ursula Berg, junior from Midland, and John Nowak, Grand Rapids senior.

First on the list is that, in addition to the customary grand prize —a day to Paris in the old French Riviera—there will also be a car to be won by an Aquinas student. Chances for the student’s car may be acquired in proportion to the number of regular tickets sold. Part of the proceeds from the weekend will go toward an objective to be decided by the students.

The second to start in the weekend spirit, a Kickoff Rally, complete with bands and an air show, will be held on Friday evening, Oct. 19.

BUBBLE, BUBBLE,
The Halloween Circle will be held Halloween night, Oct. 31, from 7 to 11 p.m. in the main lounge.

As in past years, there will be prizes and refreshments. The theme is “haunted house,” so everyone is encouraged to start thinking of a “winner.” And Kathy Kirkwood, chairman of the circle committee, assurred the “wonders will be welcome too.”

These “wonders” will be necessary to be admitted to the dance.

Faculty Replacements Come

Eighteen new faculty members bring the total Aquinas teaching staff to 82, including five laymen, priests, and 36 sisters.

Returning to Aquinas is Rev. John L. Hart, O.P., who was on the faculty from 1935 to 1956. Fr. Hart, associate professor of theology, is a candidate for the doctorate in theology.

Rev. John R. Vandrignot, O.P., has joined the faculty as an instructor in theology. He has been teaching at Xavierian College in Silver Springs, Maryland.

New members of the German department are Konrad G. Furguson of Zanesville, Ohio; James T. Gregory, and Kenneth Wiggens, instructor. Mr. Furguson attended the University of Budapest and received his BA and MA from Wayne State University. Mr. Gregory attended St. Louis College in Missouri and his MA from the University of Illinois.

Joining the Spanish department as assistant professor is Julian S. Donohue, a native of Michigan. He received his MA from Loyola in Chicago.

Additions to the English department include Instructors Winfield S. Sisson, Ann L. Hinch, and Thomas E. Garra. Mr. Garra did undergraduate work at Kings College, Willesley, Pa., and received his MA from Notre Dame. Mr. Lenox was educated at De Paul University in Chicago and his MA from Loyola in Chicago.

Sister Maria Stellia is returning to Aquinas as associate professor of English, after a leave of absence at the University of Michigan to complete work on her doctorate, which will be awarded in January.

Sister Thomas Kyran, director of Regina Hall, is also an instructor in English and Latin.

Father Hugh Benson, manager of the college radio station and diocesan director of radio and TV, has been named chief chaplain of the university faculty as an instructor in speech.

Camilo Jr. Magro Opens Weekend Retreats

Religious retreats, a vital part of the college program, will begin the weekend of Oct. 13-14 for women’s weekend. Mr. Frank Camacho, O.P., of St. Louis Bertrand Priory in St. Louis, Kentucky, will be the retreat director. To Cathy Cohn, former chaplain of Aquinas college and, as priest, located in New York as Vacation Director of the Dominican Order, will conduct the first men’s retreat.

The success of these first retreats and those that will follow throughout the year depends upon the co-operation of the students.

Relaxing, after a flurry of unpacking, in Regina Hall’s spacious lounge, is Killian O’Boyle, S. J., and Mrs. Ralph Howard of Detroit and the Rev. Robert J. Nulty, O.P., and his freshman daughter Kathy. The lounge was dedicated to the memory of the late Mrs. Ralph Howard in 1957 in order to show the College’s appreciation for the Catholic higher education. Furniture and rugs in the lounge are the gift of the Store and D. F. Sunn Furniture Company.
Tommy's Look To Victory

The return of big Ralph Coleman gives the Aquinas basketball team high hopes for the coming season. Coleman is 6' 6", 225 lbs., a junior from Lansing, who, before going into the army, had almost everyone at Aquinas. Another newcomer who should help out is 6' 4" John Mulder. Mulder last year led Export Institute to a fine season.

Along with these outstanding newcomers, Coach Ray Null has several returning lettermen, who will play a major role in the season's 3-14 record. The team plays a tough schedule, including such nationally known schools as Northern Michigan, Ferris Institute, St. Joseph college and DePaul university.

Most important is that the team has the potential. Can the Coleman remain healthy? Can the newcomers help out as much as they're being counted upon? Can the club avoid serious injury, and win the league strong? These questions must be answered before one can say how good the team will be.

One thing certain, though, the team has colorful players that should give the students and fans good basketball this year.

Meet the Toms

Ralph Coleman—6'6", 225 lbs., a junior from Lansing — a great rebounder and scorer, who holds most Aquinas scoring records.

Tom Williamson—6'5", 190 lbs., a senior from Chicago — a good rebounder with agility and speed around the basket.

John Mulder—6'4", 190 lbs., a junior from Grand Rapids — top scorer at Davison junior college, who could help the team a lot.

Gary Fewlos—5'9", 175 lbs., a sophomore from Lansing — a small guard, but a good ball handler.

Lance Gentile—6'1", 175 lbs., a sophomore from Detroit — versatile, who proved his worth on the boards.

Al Hess—6'3", 190 lbs., a junior from Highland, Ill. — has probably the best shot on the team, a strong, aggressive ball player.

Ray Brey—6'3", 205 lbs., a junior from Chicago — small but big, big in battle, a good ball handler.

Ken Konesny—6'2", 180 lbs., a senior from Mt. Morris — the type of ball player who could come off the bench and do good.

Jerry Berg—6'1", 170 lbs., a senior from Bay City — knee injury sidelined him last year.

Greg Gregwar—6'1", 175 lbs., a sophomore from Pontiac — has a good pair of hands and is a steady ball player.

Joe O'Connor—6'1", 180 lbs., a freshman from Saginaw — a fine high school ball player with a lot of potential.

Cheerleaders Plan Tryouts

Three very colorful cheerleaders return to the Tommie roster this season on a victorious tour of duty. Captain of the squad, a graduate of Grand Rapids Catholic Central, is Nancy Cun nell, a biology major in her junior year. The two returning Grand Rapids sophomores are Ger trude Guiseppi and Sarah Thien. These two are seniors and the best yet at Aquinas, topped off with Kalamazoo, Hope, Grand Rapids and Hope, in a quadri nal event.

Cheerleading tryouts are to be held the second week of October in the Women's Lounge. Judging the event will be Maria Guiseppi Hur gan, Dean of Women; Mrs. Theo dora Seger, Women's Athletic Director; Nancy Cun nell; and Student Senate, Varsity Club, and upper class officers. Contestants will be judged on style, co-ordination, enthusiasm and personality. All interested women students are invited to participate.

Jaskiewicz Heads Team

Under the coaching efforts of Ray Null, the Cross Country team is ready for action. The home meets are being held at Aquinas and Grand Rapids Country Club at 4 p.m.

Returning as captain of the squad is Dan Judkins. Judkins is a standing junior and graduate of Grand Rapids Catholic Central. Al so returning from last year's team is Tom Feustl, a Grand Rapids junior.

Heading the new members is John Hailem, winner of the Regional Mille and the State Cross Country. This freshman from Grand Rapids Catholic Central should provide the team with the impetus it needs for a victorious season. Other new members are Ken Kon seezy, Dan Nulty, Gary Fewlos and Robert Penning.

Despite a good showing, the Tommies went down in defeat at Muskegon JC, Grand Rapids JC and Hope, in a quadrilateral meet held in Holland on Sept. 28.00 points are expected to be paced by Mike McCormick.

The ball games are fast and exciting. The juniors on the wings of a 57-6 triumph over the freshmen, and a 38-6 victory over the sophomores lead the pack.

This year's season promises to be the best yet at Aquinas, topped off by an All-Star game. If you have some spare time, why not stop by and see the action first hand?

A.A. Sponsors Mass

The Alumni Association will sponsor a Universal Memorial Mass for the intention of deceased members of the College Chapel. On Sunday, Nov. 4 at 11 a.m., following a "brunch" in the college cafeteria, Fr. Mag, Arthur F. Bur kowski, president of Aquinas, will officiate at the Mass. General chairman of the event will be Atty. Timothy Conroy. The Saginaw, Detroit, and Muskegon chapters of the Association will also have Masses on the same day.

Foundation Offers Fellowship

Competition for the 1,000 first-year graduate study awards offered by the Woodrow Wilson Na tional Fellowship Foundation for 1963-64 is under way now. Nom inations are open until Oct. 31. To

Vatican II Opens

However, the 550 million Catholics, out of a world population of three billion, constitute a not-so-small minority. To these and all those sincerely interested in Christian unity, the proceedings of the next year will prove of utmost interest. While the day-to-day business of Vatican II is likely to be a bit pedestrian, the final analysis will undoubtedly prove to be of paramount importance.

The Holy Father has asked for our prayers for the Council's success. God has seen fit to give us such a spiritual leader. Let us cooperate with him, by fulfilling to the best of our ability, this small request.

The juniors, still burning over the shocking upset that they took last year, are determined to take the crown away. They are led by the passing of Tom Sullivan and end Tom Dou. These two are backed up by the lineup of Howie Smith and Andy Robel, but suffer a setback in the loss of Jerry Ber bier, who cannot play this season because of an injury.

The sophomores, paced by Tom Labertear, are a sure bet to offer some stiff competition. The freshmen are, of course, handicapped by the lack of experience, but are expected to be paced by Mike McCormick.

Maturity, responsibility

Words or Reality?

By Fred Schaefer

During the past year, Grand Rapids has begun to see its respon­ sibility as the "center of its citizens, a responsibility justly be­ing awarded the title of "All American." You, now reading this article, are the first generation that will truly be known as "temporary or permanent. So, in just two short sentences, you have been given not a snack bar that through the united efforts of a center. Here great intellectual de­

WXTO Takes

The clustering of what probably is the one machine most students have ever seen, is the first hint of a unique development at Aquinas. WXTO, 97.9 on your FM dial, is not only Aquinas' own radio station, but the Catholic radio station of Grand Rapids.

There is more to it, however, than just those few small rooms in the tower. The members of the WXTO family are a hard working crew with one thought in mind - make WXTO the leading FM station in Grand Rapids. Father Michael Behan and his brother, Frederic, the station manager, brought life to the station and continue to convey a spirit of enthusiasm to their co-workers. The remaining executive staff consists of Jimmie Drummond, program coordinator; Father Charles Ausberger, security; and Charles Ausberger, radio engineer, and his assistant, Ben Gibson.

The efforts of these men combine to bring you the voices of the WXTO announcers. At present, the staff includes Dine Hube, Ann Matsieh, Mary Jane Miller, Tommie Williamson, Timothy Littell and Daniel Lewakowski. Through auditions their voices were selected to fit the FM style, and their almost-always calm control qualifies them for greater things. It seems the man who is out is "friend John," a local inquisitive youngster who has been dubbed mascot.

When asked about the schedule, Father Behan said in a recent interview, "I always say we play golf, but the ball is always sliding away. From 8 to 11 on Saturday nights dance music is played. A series called Meet the Faculty is now being worked on. Miss Gertrude Hargan is soon to present a program on poetry, and Mr. Lewis Clayman and I have been developing a program on the history of Grand Rapids. WXTO is also planning to broadcast all Aquinas basketball games."

He added enthusiastically, "Perhaps the most important development is the radio station is the student body itself, for without support, a station can fail. By listening, if you have an FM set, talking about WXTO and WXTO station can fail. By listening, if you have an FM set, talking about WXTO and WXTO will grow, if you feel you are unable to do any of these things, drop in to WXTO and WXTO, and listen to those who are working that you appreciate their effort."

APA Presents Satire

Through the combined efforts of the colleges and theatrical groups in the area, the Association of Professional Actors will bring Richard Sheridan’s satire “School for Scandal” to Grand Rapids on November 13 and 14.

The play is being produced with the collaboration of Calvary College, Michigan Extension Service, Junior College, Aquinas, Calvin, Grand Valley State College, Cleaveland, and Michigan Alumni groups.

The Eighteenth century comedy will be played at South high school auditorium on Thursday at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Special rates will be extended to college students for both performances: $1.00 (adult), $1.25 (seniors). Adult admission will be $2.50.

Dr. Frederick L. Bouwman, Jr., and Helen Hayes, the former, are associate professor of biology. He received his MS and PhD from Michigan State University.

David F. Paskunsky, associate professor of music in physics, received his BS from University of Chicago and his MS from Iowa State University.

From Vienna, Klaus C. Kramen, director of music and instructor in organ and voice, studied music and took courses in Berlin Music Academy.

Miss Malakat K. Waffa, a native Egyptian, is instructor in political science. She received her AB from De Paul.

In physics, received his BS from Iowa State University and his MS from Michigan State University.

College Joins Honor Society

A newcomer among the organizations on campus is Phi Alpha Theta, the History national honor group. Organized last year by Dr. Joseph A. Galligan, it will be continued under the guidance of Sister Joseph A. Gagliano.

Meetings will be held quarterly with guest speakers. Other activities will include a field trip to some historic area, an annual initiation and dinner, and the awarding of a Gold Key for excellence in history.

Membership is limited by the national rules to those holding a 3.5 or better average in history with a minimum of 36 semester hours and a B average in general scholastic record. At present, Aquinas has a membership of 16 including faculty and alumni. Officers of the organization are: Terri Boyle, president; Charles Laak, vice-president; Sue Strong, secretary-treasurer; Stephens and Mike Seaton, publicity; Mary Robach and Erolva, Harvey program, chairman.
