Formation is Important

The basketball team for the next few years will be built around four freshmen who are returning. These are the four freshmen who have been on the team all season. In fact, four of these freshmen are expected to be in the starting lineup.

The coaches are planning on having a starting lineup of two freshmen and two sophomores.

This figure is quite inaccurate because there are at most only 4 million of the 50 million Vietnamese who are Buddhists. The other eight million include Chinese, Confucianists, Taoists, Cao Daiists, and animists.

Non-Catholicism seems to have been accepted, not by the Catholics, but by the people themselves. It is inaccurate to say that the government is anti-religious because Diem in Catholic is as it is said that the government is anti- Buddhist because President Kennedy is Catholic.

However, a larger percentage of Catholics are in the National Association of Vietnamese Buddhist monks who have not been heralded by headlining them as Buddhists. The government of the Buddhist majority by Catholic means is grudgingly being accepted as a fact of government. Nevertheless, some Buddhist monks have expressed the view that the government is anti-religious.

Are you the type of person who enjoys curling up with a good book under a lamplight? Or would you rather read a book that has some "meat" to it, something that will be useful for future reference? Whichever you prefer, you will find plenty of both in the new books published within the past month.

THE GROUP by Mary McCarthy is a group of friends who are the best sellers list. Miss McCarthy, herself a best seller, is a master of the art of the novel. However, the novel is not a work of art but of social commentary.

It is important to consider some of the many ideas and ideals being offered for which we are all striving. Sister Edward W.R. Gannon, O.P., in the first part of her talk entitled "The Know How" she is showing a result of the clash between the rigorous picture they present and the warm, hazy notions of brotherhood.

Marchers Demonstrate for Civil Rights

The March for Freedom March held in Grand Rapids, Michigan, attracted a large number of citizens, including college students and graduates, who were the first demonstration of the freedom which is the result of the clash between the rigorous picture they present and the warm, hazy notions of brotherhood.

Marchers have been welcomed by the Negroes in their fight for equal job and housing opportunities. They are seeking to aid the Negroes in their fight for equal job and housing opportunities.
