The students of Aquinas college express their deepest grief upon the death of Father Adrian T. English. It is to his memory that we dedicate this issue of the Aquinas Herald.

The sudden death of the Rev. Fr. Adrian T. English, professor emeritus of medieval history, occurred Sat., Feb. 29. Father English fought a heart ailment during Holy Communion at an 8:30 a.m. Mass at Marywood Academy.

Father English was ordained in the Order of St. Benedict in 1928 and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1932 from Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., and a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1934 from Notre Dame College, Indiana. He also held a Master of Arts degree in 1935 from the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., and a Doctorate of Philosophy degree in 1944 from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The sudden death of Father English was announced in the Aquinas College News on March 1. A memorial Mass will be celebrated at 8 a.m. Monday, March 3, in St. Catherine's Chapel.

Future plans for the College are under consideration with special reference to the education of students in the direction of the Bachelor of Arts degree. The college is equipped with modern facilities and offers a wide range of courses in various fields of study.

The college also provides opportunities for students to participate in extracurricular activities such as sports, societies, and clubs. It is situated in a beautiful location with nearby parks and lakes for outdoor activities. The college is committed to providing a well-rounded education that prepares students for both academic and professional success.
There have been prolonged dacussions, and in print, concerning the state of Catholic schools at various levels. Articles have appeared in every major Catholic periodical by both religious and lay. Books have also been written on the subject. Almost everyone agrees that our hands are not working with Catholic schools; some think that the problems are still here, but the solutions have been completely rethought.

As students at a Catholic college, our hands will no longer be taken away. The priests at Aquinas, ranging from the Assistant Priest to the President of the college, will no longer be empty spaces where no one will ever talk. The town's community newspaper has some of its issues in our homes, all crucifixes, pools of the lake, and medals have been taken away. The priests have none, the altar: the water coming holy water is dry; confessions are no longer a banlotion is out of reach. And our next journey home — Lourdes has become the city street — never to be seen again. People are singing out "Holy Grod We Pray..." to no one. We are no longer in the sky, looking for God's manifestations. As a priest, I fulfilled all that the priestian has to do. My whole recess was that he was granted the Mass — "rare occurrence" as he termed it. He received his baptism and masses for Father English.

I hope will not prove to be above
my expectations.

Noted Lecturer Speaks On Catholic Education

Mr. Edward Wakon, who is an Assistant Professor at Fordham University and serves on the faculty of a general assembly, Feb. 26, concerning the conclusion of the master's degree program in Catholic Education. Mr. Wakon was due to present only at the annual conference of the Catholic Education Association, but was unable to do so due to illness.

Mr. Wakon said that today there is a decided interest in the role of the layman on the Catholic campus. Along with the physical, educational and cultural needs of the campus is a state of change. The enrollment on the college campus has tripled since 1940. Mr. Wakon said that the social and cultural elements are moving on par with the secular community.

Today on the campus there is a great deal of change. There are more intelligent, mature and demanding students in the university. In describing the "average student" said that they pray for a key to knowledge and a key for the emergence of the "organum.

Golfers Aim to Repeat Rating

The 1963-64 basketball season closed on a happy note with a 107-105 victory over Lawrence Tech of Detroit. The Tommies led all the way but played in spars. At one time they saw a 24-point bulge dwindled to six points, however each time the Aquinas five with stood their foe's drives and hung on for the slim victory.

Ray Bauer playing his last game as a Tommie made it one of his finest by pouring in 31 important points. Big Ray's baskets came at very opportune moments and spelled disaster for the Detroi boys, Denny Alexander and Gary Fewless each had 20 points apiece making the Aquinas attack a balanced one.

Al Hens was also instrumental in the victory by hanging in many of his "long leapers." Dan Nulty, ball-hawking all over the court, forced the opponents into many bad situations and set up Bauer, Less, andFewless for numerous open shots.

This victory upped the Aquinas record to 10 wins and 11 losses. The season was a success considering the foe. Special congratulations are in order to Mr. Ralph Goldstein for his fine job in his first year at the Tommies' helm and to the seniors playing their final game for Aquinas: Al Hens, Bob Payne, Ray Bauer, and Ken Konomy.

Hoosiers Win Intramural Title, Tournament Goes Under Way

The Intramural Play-offs were held, Sat., Feb. 22, with the Gophers battling the Hoosiers for the championship. The game was rated a toss-up at the start, but at the end of the first half the Gophers held a five point lead. As the second half began the Hoosiers showed that they were not to be denied. Led by the great offensive and defensive efforts of Joe O'Toole with help from Bob Shan, the Hoosiers went on to a decisive 47-35 victory.

This game will go down in the record as one of the best games played in intramural competition. From this game came the out standing players of the week: Micky Dyer and Joe O'Toole. Dyer led the Gophers to their half time lead and kept them in contention with his long jump shots and driving lay-ups. The Hoosiers "proud and joy", Joe O'Toole, played great offensive ball, but it was his defensive efforts that won the championship for the Hoosiers.

Other games played that day included the Hawkeyes 45-35 victory over the Spartans. The Buckeyes 55-38 upset victory over the Wolverines was one of Saturday's big surprises. Another exciting contest pitted the Buckeyes against the Badgers. Joe Burns and Bill Zollner led the "buck" on a 48-42 win.

The final contest was between the Tommies and the Boilermakers. Denny Williams, Mike Hidalgo and Neil Fastrow worked the Badgers', but were not strong enough to hold down the "tall-minded" Boilermakers. Bob Payaw, Len Bridge and Howard Smith led the Boilermaker attack to their 45-41 victory.

Political Science

Presents Challenge

Aquinas has again taken on a challenge—the title of a new Political Science course. Unlike any other course at Aqui nas, this one is conducted in the form of a seminar. The role of the instructor is to guide the work of the students rather than to lecture.

Seminarists are primarily composed of papers and criticism of those papers. There is no final examination. Students are graded on their papers and classroom participation.

Courses of this type are not usually conducted on the undergradu ate level. Many critics say that small colleges cannot tolerate the extras associated with a seminar. How ever, hopes are high that Aquinas students will disprove this idea.

Bauer Scores 31 Points

The season was a successful one according to the league. The season was finished with a 4-1 record. The league title holders, the Hoosiers, kept their winning ex tension to the end and captured the championship for the Hoosiers.

The Hawkeyes were the number one man for the past two years. Although the Hawkeyes were defeated by the number two team in the nation, the Hawkeyes lost only once in the season. The Hawkeyes were led by the great offensive ball of Joe O'Toole and Bob Schamer.

The following Saturday the Intramural tournaments got off to a spat off the right foot. The league holders, the Hoosiers, beat the Gophers and the Spartans. The Tommies were upset by the Hawkeyes, but it was the Buckeyes who were the big winners of the day.

The league was a big surprise. The Hawkeyes, who were expected to win, were upset by the Buckeyes. The Gophers were the number one team in the nation, but the Buckeyes were able to hold their own against the league leaders. The Buckeyes were led by the great offensive ball of Denny Williams, Mike Hidalgo and Neil Fastrow.
