Students have returned to the Aquinas campus to be welcomed (7) by the unexpected.

Tom Deschaine no longer occupies the Dean of Students office in Regina Hall. The reaction is obvious curiosity, questioning, and confusion.

There are some facts to the matter, but the situation is very gray between black and white.

Tom Deschaine has left feeling he did his job as he saw fit. He admits that he was certainly not the best of student deans, but insists that there were many rewarding features and accomplishments under his jurisdiction.

For Robert Hruby, president of this hallowed grounds, the replacement of Tom Deschaine has been an important event as necessary for the growth of the college.

Whether or not Tom Deschaine's departure is for the betterment of Aquinas is really left to the future to determine.

However, for those of the college community who have been aware of Deschaine's departure through the grapevine, not the least of its resounding is the significant impact this departure will have on the college.

For Gregory Krzyton, formally from the Kent State University Office of New Student Orientation, which rock the college to its very foundations. Channels of communication must be opened, and various inputs considered, if we are to avoid shocks like this.

Minority Student Affairs, Health Center, Counseling Center, Veteran's Affairs, Student Activities office, government, and Organizations, and Residence Halls) project a, hopefully, busy year, "expanding student services totally. My virtues are hopeful, and I hope not to fall into the same trap.

"At my advanced age (51) I can look back at my undergraduate days and laugh at the inconsistencies in treatment students are subjected to. The hands of the Administration, but I didn't laugh then. Now, I am part of the Administration, I hope not to fall into the same trap.

"I think I am about as normal as anyone else." Greg said, "There's nothing outrageous unique about me. I have all the normal vices, I smoke excessively, drink occasionally, swear interminently, and with some small remorse, enjoy these vices totally. My virtues are few, but among them I count patience and fortitude. I think that about covers what students want to know about the new kid-on-the-block." Outwardly, the description seems accurate.

And in the short time Greg has been here, he can already be considered very effective in his energetic effort and active concern and participation with students and student organizations. The arrival of a new Dean may not be the dawning of a new era, but it would stand the Student Body in good stead to welcome this "new-kid-on-the-block" and wish him well.

If the response the Sunrise received from students at the Welcome Fair last Thursday is any indication of how this paper will flourish throughout the year, we may see the "happenings" and the real student newspaper so avidly struggled for in the past. EFFECTIVENESS DEPENDS ON YOU.

The purpose of the Sunrise as a student newspaper is primarily that of a student voice-box to open and encourage lines of communication among and from the students and second, to report to the students at Aquinas on significant news of interest and give informative coverage of events and activities. All attempts will be made to develop a media through which students can express themselves and share their interests with others. Again, EFFECTIVENESS DEPENDS ON YOU.

Whether you are an active Sunrise staff member or not, to keep this paper relevant and dynamic your interest and efforts are needed. All response and information is welcome, The Sunrise in and by composed by students who are concerned and anticipate effective communication at Aquinas, students who believe that learning happens outside the classroom as well as in it.

Aquinas received a grant of $2,700 for the EAST-TOWN-AQUINAS FALL FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS. This grant is for a week of entertainment here. Art Show on Wednesday, October 20-26. Already contracted are STEPHEN BELL, classical guitarist, who performed for enthralled Aquinas crowds last spring; TONY JOHNSON, a black modern dancer of exceptional flexibility, MASAO and MIMI, a comic duo who combine theatre and mime; ARTURO DELMINI, violinist; STREET CORNER THEATRE from Michigan State University. Performances will be at Wellness Park, Aquinas, and some yet to be determined locations in Eastown. Workshops and lecture-demonstrations are to be scheduled at Aquinas. Assistance and suggestions are welcome and needed. If interested, contact Student Activities Office 12, Regina Hall.

The monies were received from the Michigan Council of the Arts. To be granted this sum from the council, equal monies must be supplied from the sponsoring organization. For this Fall Festival, the Community Senate is providing the matching funds of $2,500, and in kind services, $540, and the College. This is another example of Community Senate monies being spent for a variety of different types of activities and events.

Jill Ruckelshaus

The Fifth District's Women's Political Caucus will soon be sponsoring "An Evening with Jill Ruckelshaus" here at Wege Center. Tickets for the 6:00p.m. event will be available at $2.00 in advance from Sr. Ann Keating's office (454-1312). The event will be held at Aquinas, or at The Bookie, Democratic and Republican Headquarters, the Women's Resource Center, Y.W.C.A., and Vanderveen and Goebel Headquarters. At the door, ticket will be $3.00.
AGNUS DEI
$1.00 for Friday films, 50c all other evenings.

SEPTEMBER
SEP. 6, Friday—MACBETH
(U.S.A., 1972, Roman Polanski) Jon Finch and Francesca Amnie star in this visually exciting, sometimes startling version of Shakespeare's study of murderous passion.

SEP. 10, Thursday—THE PRIME OF MISS JEAN BRODIE

SEP. 27, Friday—FAT CITY
(U.S.A., 1972, John Huston) Stacy Keach and Jeff Bridges star in this close study of the dismal lives led by a drunkard and his friend, a tank-town prizefighter.

OCTOBER
OCT. 10, Thursday—AGNUS DEI
(Hungary, 1971, Miklos Jancso) A brutal anti-war film depicting the events of the summer and fall of 1944. Featuring the finest actors of the Hungarian Republic of Councils.

OCT. 18, Friday—HIGH PLAINS DRIFTER
(U.S.A., 1973, Clint Eastwood) Director-Actor Eastwood descends upon a small mining town like a ghost rider from the sky. The film combines realism and supernaturalism in an entertaining fashion.

HALLOWEEN WITH HITCHCOCK: A SPECIAL PROGRAM
OCT. 30, Wednesday—THE BIRDS
(U.S.A., 1963, Alfred Hitchcock) An unnerving picture concerned with the bizarre possibility that the creatures off the air will become ministers of death. Rod Taylor and Tippi Hedren.

OCT. 31, Thursday—PSYCHO

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER
NOV. 7, Thursday—MILLION DOLLAR LEGS
(U.S.A., 1932, Edward Cline) The legendary W.C. Fields is president of the sovereign state of Kloptokia in this insane film which has nothing to do with the elements of the title.

NOV. 15, Friday—WOMAN IN THE DUNES
(Japan, 1964, Hiroshi Teshigahara) Sometimes haunting, sometimes realistic, sometimes surrealistic, this fascinating film won numerous international prizes.

DEC. 6, Friday—BUTCH AND SASSY
DEC. 12, Thursday—YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU
(U.S.A., 1936, Frank Capra) Capra presents another of his screwball comedies, this one based on the Pulitzer Prize play by Kaufman and Hart.

Roderick Makes History

A class taught by Dr. Rodger A. Remington has always been one of the more entertaining—not to mention educational—experiences that Aquinas College could offer. Known to many students as the fastest talker in the history department, Remington has picked up stakes and has moved to Willowbrook. Here, as assistant dean of community education, he will be the coordinator of counseling and advisory services for Career Action students and will recruit and evaluate the Career Action faculty. He will also aid William H. Parker, Dean of Community Education, in forming new programs for the growing number of adults seeking to continue their education.

Remington is enthusiastic toward the idea of a change in his routine and faces the challenge of this office with great optimism.

Most of all, however, he brings to his new job the benefit of himself. With his unusual combination of wit, human understanding, no-nonsense efficiency, and zest for life, Dr. Remington will be sorely missed in the history department and a welcome addition to Career Action.

College Survival: "Sink or swim"

The liberal arts college student of today has a heavy load to pull. When he graduates at the end of four years of intensive study he is expected to evidence a depth of knowledge which speaks of years of intensive study he is expected to be articulate and well versed in the subject of his choice. The student of today has a heavy load to pull. When he sees that one of the most efficient and even pioneer changes in a society with which he is concerned is evidence of his depth of knowledge, he is expected to be articulate and well versed in the subject of his choice.

In reflecting upon this point Carl Rogers, well-known psychologist, says this: "The only man who is cultured, and he is expected to be articulate and well versed in the subject of his choice..." He is the only one that makes the point that Rogers makes.

It is an 8 week module and will be offered twice during the semester. The first module will be offered for no-credit (and therefore free), but beginning the second module the course may be taken for no-credit or for credit (the student may contract for one or two semester hours).

The student may choose from several alternatives: Attend lectures, participate in discussions, read or study individually, use filmstrips, study guides, reading machines, etc.

In College Survival the student has the opportunity to test his skills, correct the facts, and improve his learning process. The College Survival will consider:

Organization
Note-taking
Listening skills
Preparing for and Taking Exams
Speed Reading
Flexible Reading
Textbook Reading
Skimming
Anticipation/
Concentration
Mnemonic Devices
Vocabulary
Writing
The Library
The student's first work is now to spread the word about College Survival.

We want to let the students know that we're available if they want to use our resources.

BIG BROTHER NEEDED

Life Consultation Center of Grand Rapids is looking for a Big Brother for an eleven year-old, mildly retarded boy who lives in the northeast section of Grand Rapids. If interested, call Kathy from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Phone: 459-3339.

OAR THE AU SABLE

How about a peaceful canoe trip? Join the group going up the South branch of the Au Sable River on the weekend of September 13-14. We'll canoe the Mason Tract, but you can have your choice of lengths of trip and campsite.

Betty Taylor will be taking 10 students that want to canoe to the campsite, Canoe Harbor on the Au Sable. This group will leave Friday around noon, taking all camping equipment and food in their canoes to the campsite. The rest will camp at N. Higgins Lake Friday night.

Saturday morning, the groups will either canoe the Mason Tract (four hours) or canoe from the canoe livery at Roscommon (a six hour trip).

When signing up for the canoe trip, indicate which trip interests you. Charge will be $3 for dorm students, $5 for commuters. This includes breakfast and lunch Saturday plus all other expenses. The Community Senate will take care of the additional expenses involved.

The Mason Tract is an area 15 miles long on the South branch of the Au Sable River. This unusually beautiful area was willed to the DNR by its owner, George Mason, in the middle 1950's with the stipulation that it always was to remain as he had kept it - "completely wild and uncultivated". The DNR has since bought additional land surrounding both banks of the river, guaranteeing that it will never be inhabited. A campground was built by the DNR on the newly purchased land at the end of the tract. During the fall, this trip is especially enjoyable.

The Community Senate has purchased 10 sleeping bags for those who need them. Three tents were also purchased, which will be used with the canoe campers.

Vet News

Beginning this fall term, Emory Bohanan will be the Veteran's Administration's "man-on-campus" for Aquinas College. The VA's new program is designed to provide personalized service to veterans receiving educational assistance benefits under the GI Bill.

Many colleges across the nation will have full-time Veteran's representatives. Smaller institutions, such as Aquinas, will have accessible, traveling "vet reps". Bohanan, as are other vet reps, is a Vietnam veteran who has attended college. Bohanan is a graduate of the University of Alaska. He encourages anyone to stop by the Veteran's Affairs office to talk about Alaska or VA benefits.

The Vet Rep will be prepared to resolve individual payment inquiries and help eliminate many payment delays caused by changes of address, dependency status, or a change in school courses. He will also be on hand to assist both the veteran-student and school officials with certification and advance payments.

Listen Smokers: You don’t have to wait 20 years for cigarettes to affect you. It only takes 3 seconds.

In just 3 seconds a cigarette makes your heart beat faster, shoots your blood pressure up, replaces oxygen in your blood with carbon monoxide and leaves cancer-causing chemicals to spread through your body.

All this happens with every cigarette you smoke. As the cigarettes add up, the damage adds up. Because it’s the cumulative effects of smoking—adding this cigarette to all the cigarettes you ever smoked—that causes the trouble.

And tell that to your dog, too.

JOCK NEWS

by Katherine Powell

In addition to the shining new freshman faces to be seen on campus, Aquinas has a number of faculty faces in new places as well. Phil Kahler—after serving AQ nobly for five years as Athletic Director and head basketball coach, has resigned for health reasons. He is devoting his time to teaching in the Aquinas Health and Physical Education department. Appointed by Aquinas President Norbert Hruby as acting athletic director is Ernie Mousseau. Assuming the duties of acting head basketball coach is Terry Bocian and acting as assistant basketball coach is Pat Smith.

With a team like (Terry) Bocian and (Pat) Smith coaching the “Tomies” along, the basketball season this year should be quite interesting to say the least. Terry Bocian, who earned his M.A. in health and physical education at WMU, joined the Aquinas coaching staff in 1971. He previously served as assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach. He is continuing as head baseball coach and altogether should have a very busy and, hopefully, productive year. Best of luck to Terry Bocian.

Pat Smith is one of our new shining faces and has quite a sports history behind him to be proud of. A familiar sports figure in the Grand Rapids area, Smith played on Ottawa Hills High School’s Class A State Championship basketball teams in 1968-9. He then played two years each at Grand Rapids Junior College and Grand Valley State College earning All-City status three times. Graduating from Grand Valley in 1973, he served as assistant to Bob Hendrickson at Ottawa Hills.

His credentials are extensive and we welcome him to Aquinas.

The man with quite a job ahead of him is Ernie Mousseau. He has already compiled quite a record to be proud of as Aquinas’ track and cross-country coach, leading the team to second place in the District in all three sports (cross-country, indoor and outdoor track). As the new athletic director, Mousseau has his work cut out for him and he seems quite capable of handling it.
POT: Male Contraceptive?

Marijuana can temporarily reduce the sperm count and male sex hormone levels in heavy smokers, according to new findings by a team of researchers headed by Dr. Robert Kolodny and including sex behaviorist Dr. William Masters.

The researchers, working at the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis, tested 20 men who had smoked five to 18 joints per week over at least the previous six months, without using any other drugs. As a control group, 20 men who said they had never smoked marijuana were also tested. The researchers stressed in their report that they had only the verbal assurances of the subjects that they had either never smoked marijuana or had never used any drugs other than marijuana.

The study results indicated that reduced sperm and testosterone production was proportional to the number of joints the subjects said they consumed in an average week.

The study also pointed out that when three of the marijuana users gave up marijuana, their sperm and hormone levels jumped to normal within two weeks.

The Kolodny team further qualified their results by saying that because of the small size of the sample groups, lack of data on the potency of marijuana smoked by the subjects, and the sperm counts and hormone levels of smokers before they began using the drug made the study only indicative of a possible relationship between marijuana and hormone and sperm levels.

However, the team said their findings indicated a danger to two groups of marijuana smokers—boys entering puberty and women pregnant with male fetuses.

The danger to adolescents, the doctors said, was that proper puberty development requires a delicate balance of hormones which might be upset by marijuana. In pregnant women, the potential danger was not to the mothers, but to their male fetuses, whose normal development of sex characteristics might be inhibited by marijuana, and could possibly cause a permanent hormone imbalance.
