AQUINAS GETS GRANT

What would Aquinas do without it? The Advanced Institutional Development Program federal grant, totaling $1 million over a four year period, will put Aquinas in the spotlight in numerous ways. Expanded faculty, increasing efficiency in administration, developed student services, especially Career Placement, and improved curriculum are the general goals of this grant. Aquinas received the grant through the efforts of administrators, who, in August of 1974, compiled a report on the needs of Aquinas as a struggling institution. With the help of faculty in fields that the grant was specifically aimed at, a draft of the proposal was written. The proposal was turned in and accepted.

This was by no means the first attempt. The first try, in 1969, was turned down because Aquinas was not considered struggling enough. In 1973, a second attempt was made but it failed because the request was not large enough. The third try was successful. Its programs include:

- A program to insure that college management can handle the new programs.
- A refinement period, taking place right now, must align programs to meet needs of those who need jobs to support college expenses.
- Programs in Psychology, Sociology, Business Administration, and Instruction-in-the-College. Also included is developing of course objectives and reading and tutoring programs.
- Expansion of the Learning Resource Center. Faculty will receive a stipend to do work in this area.
- Records of current data systems to be used.
- Expansion of Student Services in the areas of counseling, especially the minority, handicapped, or disadvantaged student.
- Money from the grant will be spent starting possibly in January 1976. A refinement period, taking place right now, must align programs to money well enough for the final proposal to be accepted and given the O.K. A small portion of the grant is being used for this period.

Who Will Fill Charlie's Shoes?

When you go into the bookstore this semester you may be shocked to learn that Charles Misner, the manager of the Wege Center bookstore is no longer with us. Mr. Misner has left Aquinas as the result of a contract dispute.

The dispute involves a six month contract which was only given to Mr. Misner, with the stipulation that he raise profits 20-30 percent. To meet such demands would have required Misner to sacrifice the quality that he worked so hard to achieve. A petition was drawn up in early May by Mr. Tchen and myself to present to Dr. Jefchak, which were relayed to Dr. Hruby, asking him to reconsider the case, and at least set the line of communication. Misner eventually did meet a group of three people with Dr. Hruby, and at last year's salary, with the added stipulation that the quality of the bookstore remain in tact. Misner eventually did get a meeting with Hruby. At the meeting Misner stated that the contract was unacceptable. Misner then made a counter-proposal that consisted of one year at last year's salary, with the added stipulation that the quality of the bookstore remain in tact. Hruby refused the proposal and interpreted Misner's actions as a resignation and duly accepted it, although no formal resignation had been given at that time. Misner, being deeply offended at being singled out to receive only a half year contract, and because he vigorously opposed the policy being more important than quality, decided to resign.

As this is being written no one has yet been hired to take Mr. Miners place. According to Dr. Jefchak, he and his associates were asked by the Personnel Director, Bonnie Weist to assist in the finding a suitable replacement for Mr. Misner. Two gentlemen were interviewed, and the subsequent evaluations were considered to be confidential. However said Dr. Jefchak, "I did attach a note expressing my dismay that Mrs. Cris Wyna, who has acted in Misner's capacity since his departure, was not being considered. I felt her to be qualified in every way for the post she was already holding."
Welcome to Sunrise, Volume Five. Since this is the first issue of the year, I hope you, the reader, will browse carefully. Maybe it will set a standard for browsing carefully, that is.

In the maddening rush to crank out Sunrise as soon as possible, a few items were missed, but I refuse to start out the year apologetically. Instead, the Sunrise will look forward. By looking forward, a student newspaper can see past mistakes and work on what it should be. The Sunrise staff knows what it should be. It wouldn't hurt if they could learn from you, the reader, what a relevant newspaper should be. After all, a paper's purpose is to be read.

I am Mike Wright, person, classmate, and editor. My job as editor is to organize, question, and decide. The news is made by people, the activities and events run by people, the entertainment is for and by people, an elite people. I am in this position to make sure some semblance of these occurrences are put into print for and by these elite people. These elite people are you, the readers of Sunrise, the people of or near Aquinas College.

If you desire to or just plain think you should contribute, stop in or drop a line, Sunrise still needs workers.

If we prove to be on the right course this year, Sunrise will improve thereby setting a standard to be followed.

Departments of Sunrise will expand, hopefully another service will be added—helping those who want to say it but can't because of uneasy writing or lack of confidence or whatever.

Nobody can say it like you can.

OUTDOOR REC AT AQUINAS COLLEGE

The Outdoor Recreation Committee of the Community Senate and the Student Activities Office will be combining efforts to publish an outdoor recreation brochure in the near future. The brochure will list all equipment owned by the Community Senate and available to the students through the Student Activities Office as well as a complete list of the trips planned for the year.

Until the brochure arrives, a quick run-down of the scheduled trips includes the Au Sable Canoe trip—Oct. 10, 11; back packing along Pictured Rocks trail over mid-term break—Oct. 17-24th; the Alpine ski trip to Aspen in the winter, Jan. 4-10, Gimmel rock in the spring; cross country skiing trips to the Manitou National Forest and to the Algonquin Road in Canada; the spring canoe trip down the wild Pine and the possibility of other trips. Among those being considered is an inexpensive trip down the Green River in Utah for some Rainbow Rock climbing at Grand Ledge, Mich. and Devil's Lake, Wis. are also in the planning stages.

The DNR discussed with Aquinas faculty the possibility of using Aquinas facilities to support your own hiking trail using abandoned railroad tracks.

 Plans have also been tentatively made to have army personnel assist in an outdoor survival experience. Any students with any ideas for outdoor recreation trips would like to see happen should contact Karen Byrne, Chairman of the Outdoor Rec. Committee, or Barb Norgrove, Coordinator of Student Activities.

R.F. RALSTON — THE CONSPIRACY THAT MURDERED JOHN F. KENNEDY

Rosalyn Ralston—a sociologist and criminologist at the University of Minnesota—but her husband, R.F. Ralston is also associated with the Committee to Investigate Assassinations. According to the Detroit Free Press, "the committee, which formed in 1968 and designed to pool the resources of the most responsible assassination researchers in the nation.

On September 8th there will be at Wege Auditorium to discuss his findings on the assassination of J. F. Kennedy complete with slides. Reviewers of his previous lectures on other campuses have commented on his mind-waiking lecture. This lecture is free for Aquinas students; others $2.00.

CULTURAL SCENES AT AQ

Due to the popular demand for the International Conference of the G.R. Symphony and the Civic Theatre, the Community Senate has agreed to purchase an additional season ticket for both series. This makes a total of 15 season tickets for each series. For the new students' information, these tickets are available in the Student Activities Office and should be signed up for in advance.

Twenty-five season tickets have been purchased for Western Michigan University's International Concert Series. The concerts include Oct. 9—The Hague Philharmonic; Nov. 17 — Los Angeles Philharmonic; Jan. 29—Christofer Parken; Feb. 12—Mazzowrie; Mar. 25—Pennsylvania Ballet. The tickets are available in the Student Activities Office and can be purchased individually for $2.25 each. For the entire season ticket—$11.25.

Oct. 8, the opera, "Porgy and Bess" will be presented by "Michigan Opera Theatre" at the Music Hall Center in Detroit. The Germaine Mariner is a black concert pianist, will be in residence in the U.S. Tickets will be $4.00 and can be purchased through the Department or the Student Activities Office. We have a limit of 250 tickets for this event which will be a Wednesday matinee.

Transportation will be provided to Western's concert series and to the Detroit Opera by the Community Senate. Sign ups are imperative and these tickets must be paid for when signing up.

There is a list of concerts and performances offered at Michigan State University in the Student Activities Office. If there is student interest in any of these events, tickets can be ordered individually for $2.25 each. For the entire season ticket—$11.25.

To order tickets, send a check or money order to: "Community Senate, Aquinas College, Grand Rapids, Mich. 49506. Take note that the subscription rates are $2 per semester and $3 per academic year. Composed by Graphic & Printers, printed by Spartan Peony Press. The individual and letters to the editor in the newspaper are open forums for discussion. Views reflected are those of the individual and not those of the newspaper, the Community Senate, nor the administration of Aquinas College.

Dirt Under the Rug

If you don't like to read things you don't agree with, don't read this. If you don't like nasty words, don't read this.

This column is opinion, re­member that. Like well known radio opinionists, I will write things on impulse, not necessar­ily backed by facts. Unlike opin­ionists, I will cause people to won­der if what they believe is true, or if what they believe is bull. Bull is a nice word. I use it often.

Aquinas is about to start another year of bull. It will start the year severed by the loss of Pete Davis, Charlie Hanson, Charlie Minner, Donna Spano, and Winnie Lutz.

But the greatest tragedy is that I cannot afford to be a registered student, or pay my tuition on time. Therefore, I may not be an Aquinas Student.

Why? Let's look: as is true with a lot of people, I was given a free ride through college. My parents, Aquinas, the State of Pennsylvania, were putting me through college with small help from myself.

Well, some dark and uncon­trollable force that determines financial aid made some clerical error. My free ride ended. So it goes.

I wonder why my free ride ended. Being paranoid, I lash out and assassinate the nearest in­stitutions. Later, I might be more reasonable (God forbid). I challenge the institution, the busi­ness corporation called Aquinas College. They were scared. If too many people thought like me, we could shut the school down. Now my free ride has ended.

Aquinas is rid of a trouble­maker. He stipped the gas tank, pulled the spark plugs, he let the air out of the tires of his free ride.

This column hopefully will cause a ruckus. It builds my ego to see it was effective or caused someone to ask a question.

By the way, before I close I would like to reply to some of the criticism I received last year. It was said that I don't respect law, that I don't listen to my elders, that I am impractical and that I am a dreamer. All these criticisms are valid and true; and I'm proud. I don't respect a murderous nation or the institu­tions that support it. I do respect something higher, more; I don't worry about me going to hell. I have it all arranged.

Happy (righ) Bicentennial, if we make it.

STUDENT SENATE

Welcome from the Chairman

Most likely, none of you would be involved if the traditional welcome back letter was brie "If you think you have what it takes to come back." Now, since I have saved time on the usual rhetoric, the spare time can be spent telling you what the Senate plans to accomplish.

Basically, the days of a student government just acting as a social entertainment organization is passe. Now, with students having the age of majority, the potentiality for accomplishment is intense. To facilitate these goals the Senate has a wide range of ties. These committees range from involvement in cultural events to lobbying in Lansing. The Senate also works with various college organizations.

In short, The Senate has an offer you cannot refuse. For more information, come to our Wege office on the lower level. Thank you.

Phil Boyle
Chairman, Community Senate

New 1.D.'s

The Senate, in attempts to save the full-time activity fee paying students, has initiated a new I.D. system. In the past years, the Library I.D. has suffered as the proper identification to all events sponsored by the Community Senate. When this was presented at various activities and for use of Senate equip ment the charge was reduced. However, the major difficulty with this system was the part-time, ENCORE, and IDEA students could enter an event in a manner which creates a meaningful one to one relationship between the big brother and his little brother.

Big Brothers New

This year there will be a new branch of Cava. In cooperation with D.A. Blodgett Homes, Aquinas College will be sponsoring a Big Brother program. The main objectives of the program will be to match members of the faculty or student body with boys seven to twelve years of age in a manner which creates a meaningful one to one relationship between the big brother and his little brother.

The Big Brother program has been quite successful in the Grand Rapids area. As of August 1st, there were 260 boys in the area with big brothers. In most cases these boys were from single parent homes in Kent County and are matched with volunteers according to the individual needs. At present there are 66 boys on the waiting list without big brothers. Blodgett Homes has made these referrals available for prospective volunteers through the Cava program.

The Senate has been asked that the volunteer commit himself for at least one academic year on an average of 4 hours a week. There is no financial obligation, only time and sincerity. There will be occasional meetings and trouble clinics to aid in any problems that the volunteer might encounter. For those interested on September 18, the director of the Big Brother program at Blodgett Homes, Dave DeVries, will conduct an orientation meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Loutit room of Wege Center. For further information concerning the meeting or the program itself contact Grady Hinton, coordinator of the Cava Big Brothers. I can be reached at extension 258 or in the Cava office in the student services area of Regina Hall, 1:00-5:00 Wednesdays. All other weekdays from 11:00-1:00.

COMMUNICATES

The Student Communication Center is a group of Aquinas students who are interested in bridging the gap between information and those seeking that information.

In the S.C.C., there are nine students who can offer their talents and skills to the students of Aquinas. The S.C.C. has compiled a vast amount of information dealing with on and off campus services in the Grand Rapids Area.

The S.C.C. motto is: "The Student Communication Center will try to get the answer to questions you might have concerning anything you'd want to know."

There has always been a need for students to find out ways of communicating on the campus. In the spring of 1974, some concerned students started to lay the foundation for what is now the S.C.C. The students of the center took on the tasks of identifying the gaps and of fulfilling needs that existed.

One of the goals was to pull together information about Aqui nas and other colleges in the United States.

We at the S.C.C. saw that the student body was unaware of what went on around them. They needed to know in order that they could make the most out of their college education and their adult life, education and their adult life.

The S.C.C. office is located in the lower level of Wege Center in the front half of the Senate office. Peel free to stop in and say hello. We'd love to see you and listen to you! The hours are from 11:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or call Pat Crons at 458-2206, ext. 38 in Regina Hall. We are there to listen.

The Zwier Brothers are back, more or less, depending on whether you see the loss of one Zwier as an asset or a loss for this publication.

We are glad to be back, which is not to say that our readers share these sentiments. Nor is this to say that we wouldn't rather be somewhere else. However Paul Zimmerman, Judith Crist, Rex Reed, and Pauline Kael refused to give up their jobs. So, we're back.

And why not? The Pink Panther's back and so is Fanny Brice. Reno joans come back to bust in the heads of some more dirty junkies and all those other lovers. "The Godfather" came back to take us for another ride. In the near future, Crocky and the Holy Roller will once again hit the road, the Posse will take another turn for the worse, and Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire will choreograph their way through "That's Entertainment Too!"

We will try to judge movies fairly, but don't bet on it. The House bugs on the Raid commercials stand a better chance than does a movie once we get ahold of it.

Also, as a special salute to nonconformity, we will try not to mention, "paws," if such a thing is humanly possible.

We will even try to conquer our prejudices against Spaghetti westerns, Martial Arts films, and Burt Reynolds. We're nearly as proud of these lofty resolutions for the worse, and Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire will choreograph their way through "That's Entertainment Too!"

Deodato is not very new to the jazz-rock type of music in America. This is shown true by his long list of LP's in the past couple years. I myself have not heard of him until not long ago. I regret that fact, yet in the same stroke of my mad notes (to those of you who venture to read the words of this humble writer) my baptism into the musical waters of Deodato...bizzzit...I hear the light.

While pondering the credits, I found many names I have seen on other fine ventures into music. People who have been heard with Bob James, Grover Washington Jr., Hurbert Laws, George Benson and their producer, Creed Taylor (who once produced Deodato). When I saw that Hurbert Laws was on the LP, I knew I was in for a treat.

So, running in with all fury to hear the sounds, I slid into home and tossed the disc on the turntable (the one with the size 12 Singer sewing needle with the yarn tied around the tone arm to keep the needle in place). Placing the arm on the record, I made a 180 degree turn towards the ice-box to notice a big fat nothing. But after closing the cabinets in an effort to munch down, I found twenty minutes had passed and I had missed the music. When the "red bug" kicked in, I was ready to dive into Deodato. Deodato: First Cuckoo MCA-491 Produced by: Eumir Deodato MCA Records side one:

"Funk Yourself!"... and you will do just that with its stepped up tempo, driven by the drums and congos, followed by heavy bass guitars, electric piano and clarinet. All this is set off by the horn section. The tune is consistent and strong. Bump City!!! After one has made up one's mind that the music is good, they are attacked by an old bad Zep number called "Black Dog" with machine-like guitars, stomping drums, and bass lines held true by Deodato and his excellent piano work. The changes are tight, remaining light and spacy.

Next on this side is the soft airy sound of "Crabwalk" featuring the trumpet of John Gatchell, backed by strings and horns. The flute is done by Hurbert Laws and all this is matched by keyboards and Rubens Bassini on cowbells. The side closes with a sleepy latin sound called "Adam's Hotel." An electric piano and ARP combo with string back-up. The second two starts with the familiar Duke Ellington tune "Caravan," a short two minute arrangement. The cut is heavy on percussion, brassy horns, and a steady rhythm. This paves the way for a Deodato work called "Natusu Strut." Its electric Latino beat is zapped by feature guitarist, John Gatchell, who has worked with Deodato on other albums.

Fading away into nothing, we are engulfed in another light jazz-type composition called, "Speal Low." The title cut is a work by Fredrick Delius. "First Cuckoo (on hearing the first cuckoo in spring)" arranged and adapted by Eumir Deodato. It remains the best cut on the album; you'll hear what I mean.

Get the record, it is worth the money, so, that's that! Thanks to Record and Tape (where the records came from). I hope you all run out to the Mall and ask to hear the record. The folks are nice, the records are better, so until we meet again...ham and cheese on rye!!! Bizzzit!!!
CROSS COUNTRY PREVIEW

The Aquinas College cross country team will be the first varsity sport to debut this year, opening September 12 at 3:30 p.m. against cross-town rival Grand Rapids Baptist College. Despite possessing a relatively small team—only eight runners to compete for the seven varsity positions—coach Ernie Moueaux feels optimistic about the coming season.

Moueaux, in his third year at the helm of the Aquinas cross country forces, holds that his team possesses "some caliber people." This year's edition of the red and white should be healthier coming into the season because of an improved effort at summer mileage, stretching and weight exercises.

The Tommies have an excellent balance of youth and experience with four veterans and four freshmen. Top performer from a year ago is Dan Black who finished 43rd in the national meet. Dan, a senior has been selected to the All District team in each of his three varsity seasons. Another All District performer is sophomore Pat Weiler. Weiler had a fine year as a freshman, including a near-miss at All American honors in the Steeplechase during track season. Another returning sophomore is Larry Porter. Despite being plagued by injuries, Larrylettered twice for the Big Ten Spartans.

Moueaux is counting heavily on his freshman for good performance. He terms Mike Wood good one, "For King/ley comes the class D state champion Stan Sidor. Moueaux feels that Dan Johnson of nearby Grandville may be a "Pat Weiler type sleep rer."

And Eric Patterson performed as the number one man, for class A Alpena.

The Tommies graduated only one senior off last year's team. Jerry Gumbieon's services will be missed. Gumbieon co-captained the squad and was honored as a co-recipient of the Joe Baker Outstanding Senior Athlete Award.

The pre-season outlook rates Hilldale and Ferris as the top two teams in the NAIA district. However, with some hard work, good health, and timely luck, the Tommies could surprise a lot of people this fall.

POLITICS '75 ON AND OFF CAMPUS

Dr. Norris Runs

Not many students around Aquinas College are likely to remember who Don Norris is. To refresh your memory, Norris was the former head of the Political Science Department and the founder and head of the Urban Studies Department, while at Aquinas. He left Aquinas in 1973 to work for the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce. Presently Norris is a candidate for mayor of Grand Rapids.

To refresh your memory, Norris is Dr. Thomas Warke. Warke, running for 2nd Ward City Commissioner, is making his second attempt at public office. He ran unsuccessfully for State Representative in the 93rd District in 1974.

Dr. Warke was raised in Hudsonville where he attended Kalamazoo College. He completed his graduate work at Princeton before going abroad to Oxford University. He arrived at Aquinas in the fall of 1973, where he presently teaches Economics. In addition to his duties here at Aquinas, he has acted as an economic advisor to U.S. Representative Richard VanderVeen and more recently State Senator John Ottenbach, a former member of the Aquinas faculty.

Warke is running for commissioner so that he can help people and, as he puts it, dispense the power to the people in the neighborhood. He wants the city to pay more attention to the needs of the neighborhood and consider the potential harm any particular action may have on the neighborhood as a whole. He cited the recent WLAQ Raft Race, street widenings, and the Colt Ave. School closing as examples. The City should prove to the residents the action is vitally important and that the potential good derived far outweighs the potential damage to the quality of life in the neighborhood affected. The City in exchange for citizen support should give people something in return to make up for the damage i.e., a park in exchange for a street widening.

Dr. Warke zeroed in on four major areas that he feels are most important: housing, crime, mass transit, and manpower training.

-Housing: "The City should strictly enforce its housing code."

-Crime: "The effective way to deter crime is to have the police and citizens on the same side." He feels this could be accomplished through community participation in the law enforcement process, and also by having policemen walking the beat provided they have the right attitude.

-Mass Transit: The City should decide the purpose of its mass transit system; whether its main purpose is to serve senior citizens or transport people to jobs in the suburbs to jobs in the city or people from the city to jobs in the suburbs. The approach to mass transit should be to develop a metropolitan approach to transportation.

-Manpower Training: More emphasis on training programs designed to upgrade labor skills should be made to better enable people to fit into the labor market.

He feels that his background as an economist will be of great use in helping the city solve its problems, and in implementing government programs designed to help ease the economic crunch. As far as the long range political plans go he intends to serve a four year term on the city commission if elected. He intends to be a full time commissioner if given the chance, while still retaining his connections with Aquinas. When asked if he had any higher office in mind, he said that he had "no Master Plan" for climbing up the political ladder.

Dr. Warke seems to have quite a bit to offer the voters of the 2nd Ward. Whether he is successful or not his ideas will certainly have an impact on the City of Grand Rapids.
