Controversy Over Parking Privileges
by BRIAN PUCHITA
After a full semester, parking problems and controversies continue to plague Aquinas students, battle SUNRISE, and agitate the Traffic Board. At the center of the controversy is a new, little-known regulation which suspends students' parking privileges after 3 tickets are received. The regulation formally went into effect on the first day of the semester.
Coop Offers Price Breaks

by BARB WRUBLE

If you're tired of eating monotonous plats and propylene glycol monostearate join the New Age Co-op at 1422 Grand River Eastown.

The New Age Co-op was opened in May 1978 by Walt Yoder, John Yoder, and Laurel Gray. It offers a variety of health-food such as herbs, teas, juices, breads, goat's milk, yogurt, and packaged grains, as well as all-natural non-food items like shampoo, soap, and toothpaste.

A single membership at the co-op is only $8 per year, while a household can join for $15. Hours are 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday through Friday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sundays. Prices are only slightly above wholesale.

However, the New Age Co-op is much more than a store. To its members it offers a health-food bar, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesday through Thursday, and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday.

A unique feature of the co-op is its open invitation to the Aquinas community to drop in and place to relax with a magazine or a book.

In addition, a variety of classes are offered to the public in such areas as dream interpretation, natural foods, and interpretive music. Classes are $25—the price divided between those who attend.

The New Age Co-op is also involved in promoting the World Symposium for Humanity, taking place April 7th-14th in Los Angeles, Toronto, and London simultaneously. John Yoder is the Grand Rapid's coordinator of this international gathering of hundreds of famous resource people, thousands of participants, and millions who will view this event by live video satellite broadcast.

The World Symposium is covering such socially-relevant issues as nuclear proliferation, the levels of consciousness, art and society, and planetary economics.

If you are interested in joining this world-wide effort for consciousness change, a meeting will be held on February 25th at 7:30 p.m. at the New Age Co-op. For information, call 451-8335.

Board Member Appointed

by BARB WRUBLE

Judi Johnson, a commuter student, was appointed Dec. 20 by Dr. Hruby, president of Aquinas, to fill a vacancy on the All-College Traffic and Safety Board.

With the resignation of sophomore Julie Blaquiere, a dorm resident, in early December, another student representative was appointed by O'Brien, chairman of the community senate, to recommend two fill the vacant position.

Johnson and sophomore Brian Plachta, a dorm resident, were recommended by O'Brien.

Johnson, a junior politics science major, admits she was already apprehensive before her first meeting. However, she stated that "everyone works well together."

She has now attended two meetings, has taken part in discussion and feels very comfortable in her new position.

Bowling Gets Rolling

by JIM GREENER

Filling East Recreation in Eastown to near capacity, the AQ Bowling League's first day of scheduled bowling was a rousing success.

Bowling each Friday afternoon from 1:30 p.m. until the season is over, the 18-game format and mixed 5-person teams will be competing for team and individual honors.

League play will continue for nine more weeks with the last week of scheduled play, May 11, being a single handi-cap tournament for individual honors.

Each team is required to have at least three original team members present or scheduled games will be forfeited.

However, there can be substitution of players. Play is open to all full-time dorm and off-campus students.

So, if you have nothing better to do some Friday afternoon, come on over to East Recreation and cheer on your favorite team. Who knows, you may even get a chance to play.

According to Dr. Noberth Hruby, president of Aquinas, press relations are not a part of Dr. Remington's job description. "He (Remington) views his job much easier if he does not deal with the press. President Hruby stood behind Remington by saying that Remington's job is judiciary in nature and that someone who is in a position of judgment should not have to answer to the press.

Remington's job was only judiciary in nature and I would not have any qualms with that. Remington, however, often has to take the role of the legislator and in this respect, he should be held accountable to the media. His decisions on parking rules and regulations affect the entire Aquinas community. He must be held accountable to the people he serves.

I do not dislike Dr. Remington personally. I simply feel that his actions have not been acceptable or accountable to the people he serves.

I feel there have been too many problems left to solve themselves. If Remington's job was only judiciary in nature I would not comment or make any strong feelings on this matter.

Aquinas Loses Another Chaplain
by TERRI POPP

Aquinas College will not be receiving the services of a chaplain this semester, according to Sister Ann Thielen, head of the Campus Ministry team.

Father Peter Damian Massagalli, OFM Conv., who began his duties last August as part-time chaplain in Campus Ministry, was unable to sign a contract with Aquinas for the current semester. Due to a change of superior in his Franciscan order, he will try at the Franciscan Retreat House in Prior Lake, Minnesota, this semester.

According to Sr. Thielen, there had been some question whether the chaplain's position would be part-time or full-time. However, she said she was surprised in hearing that Fr. Damian would not be returning at all.

The college administration began the search for a new full-time chaplain soon after Fr. Damian's contract expired in December. However, most perspective priest-applicants desire a full-time position and are not interested in counseling position with part-time chaplaincy positions attached.

"There is a void when any staff member leaves," commented Sr. Thielen. But she does not expect that a new chaplain will be hired within the semester.

Now that the national shortage of priests may touch Aquinas more acutely, Sr. Thielen feels that college has a good opportunity to examine the changing roles of sisters and lay first time. "If we have a need," she asked, "does it necessarily have to be met by a priest?"

However, she is quick to add that Aquinas has access to priests available to administer the sacraments and say mass. The 12:05 daily mass will be celebrated by Fr. Philip Hanley, chairman of the religious studies department, and Fr. Michael Danner, dean of the Campus Ministry.

Aquinas College is part of St. Thomas the Apostle Parish, 1449 Wilcox Park Dr. Students are always welcome to participate in their liturgies and to avail themselves of parish services.

Commenting on spiritual direction and counseling, Sr. Thielen felt that those should not present any problems as long as individual student needs were known to the Campus Ministry team.

Sr. Thielen views the staff changes in Campus Ministry, not as a problem but as a challenge. "God is providing us," she says, "with an opportunity to look at the future, to see a new vision."
The Cars
The Cars
Electra-Asylum Records (1978)
A. The Cars are many people's first exposure to new wave music. Their sound is somehow familiar but also original. They know exactly how to please the majority of the time, with a little top 40 material, old and new rock 'n roll.

"My Best Friend's Girl" was released in the early fall of 1978, through Warner Brothers. This album may be the most successful of the group. He writes all the songs and sings vocals. "Just What I Needed" and "Moving in Stereo" are the highlights and are backed up with many other impressive numbers.

This Lively and Dangers B. A two record set that was released in the early fall gives a good example of what good time, hard core, rock sound like. Their selected material gives you a look at their past, present, and a little of their promising future.

"Live and Dangers" is the latest release of the group. It's also the only time it's too late, maybe we can't do it, but if this is all you can do...?!

The Cars, "Anthem for the Taking" is a debut album. The Cars are one of the later rock bands to emerge in the late 1970s. The Cars' sound is a blend of new wave and punk rock, with a distinctively American flavor. The Cars are known for their catchy tunes, energetic performances, and a unique sound that sets them apart from their contemporaries. Their debut album, "Anthem for the Taking," was released in 1978 and includes hit singles like "My Best Friend's Girl" and "Moving in Stereo."
Human Rights Declaration Honored
by JIM GREENER

A campus-wide observance of human rights will commemorate the 40th anniversary of the signing of the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights.

The semester-long celebration will feature a series of lectures, discussions and films. Campus organizations participating are: Communities Against Community Senate, Phi Alpha Theta, Lambda Iota Tau, Pre-Law Society and the Social Action Commission.

An Opening Mass devoted to human rights was held Dec. 10 at the Pastoral Center to commemorate the signing of the declaration.

The declaration stresses that the protection and promotion of human rights is necessary to ensure human dignity and to preserve peace among the masses.

"Educational institutions should provide the opportunity for students to learn and develop the skills necessary for critical, intelligent evaluation of the issues relating to justice and human rights," according to Sister Ann Thileen, leader of the campus ministry team and program for justice education.

Sponsoring the observance through either monetary or organizational support are the Subcommittee for Justice Education, Campus Ministry, Community Senate, Office of the Academic Vice President, Office of Residence Life and Student Activities and the Grand Rapids Area Council for Humanities.

As part of the commemoration the Community Senate has agreed to sponsor the observance of the Ian Douglas Student-Faculty Seminars. The $400 appropriated by the Senate will not only fund the seminars but also help defray the cost of publicity for the entire observance.

"Enthusiasm was so great from the six Danforth Seminars that I felt some campus organization would like to sponsor a continuation of this sort of activity," according to Sister Teresa Houlihan, assistant professor of philosophy and director of the Community Senate student-faculty seminars.

An invitation has been sent to all student organizations encouraging their participation. At least two members and two guests from each organization have been invited to attend each of the six seminars.

All events scheduled this semester are open to the public. However, it is requested that reservations be made in advance by calling the Student Services Office.

Winterfest Planned
by TERESA CLAPP

Anyone can build a snowman, carve a snowflake or make a snow globe, but what about a snowcastle? You now have the chance to put your snow-sculpting skills to the test. On Feb. 23, 24, and 25 the Senate and Student Activities Office (SAO) brings you Winterfest.

In the past, Winterfest was a major Aquinas event involving everyone and decorating the campus with numerous artistic snow sculptures. Hopefully this spirit will be revived. Other activities will include broom hockey games, a cross-country ski marathon, traying races, a mass snowball fight, winter football games, and a dance Friday night. Judging of the snow sculptures will take place Saturday. Cash prizes will be awarded, so remember to start thinking about your creation now.

The SAO requests help from any students interested in helping with the broom hockey games and the cross-country ski marathon. Stop in the SAO for addition information about Winterfest.

Free "Psychotic" Movies
by CHRIS ESCH

Saturday nights on-campus may become "psychotic" nights if two Aquinas students have their way. The film club, Fred LaLonde and senior Carl Sidor are publicity, technical and production crew for their college's "psychotic cinema," sponsored by the Student Activities Office (SAO).

The two students show the films, receive only one rental fee and a food and beverage that Sidor contributes. "We put on the films for the fun of it," Sidor said. "It's a way to show the film and also help defray the cost of the showing.

The films offered this semester are open to the public. However, it is requested that reservations be made in advance by calling the Student Services Office.

"Crazy of the Banshee," "Island of the Burning Dead," "The Gold Rush," and "The Gold Rush, Jr." were major Aquinas events last semester. The Films of the Future showtimes this semester, along with still more "psychotic" movies goers supplying their own popcorn.

The idea originated in the Student Activities Office (SAO) last semester as an alternative to otherwise inactive weekends and the Tuesday night "big-name" movies shown bi-monthly by SAO.

A $650 budget was appropriated by the Community Senate who also provides the cash prizes will be awarded, so remember to start thinking about your creation now.

Chapin Comes “Home”

by JOE STEVE

Harry Chapin brought his traditional favorites and some new magic to the fieldhouse Feb. 5.

Harry and his band performed the “oldest” such as: “Cats in the Cradle,” “If My Mary Were Here,” “WOLD,” “Taxi” and “30,000 Pounds of Bananas,” as if they had just been cut last week. Chapin and the band played with so much vigor they seemed to radiate energy.

The opening song was a prime example of his “magic.” “Copper Out of the Penny” is what Harry calls it now, but it hasn’t been cut yet. This song has an angry mood that grabs you at the beginning and leads you through it.

The concert was promoted by Pyramid Productions of Ann Arbor. It is the second concert held this year at the fieldhouse done by Pyramid. Both Aquinas and Pyramid were “very pleased” with the concert.

Pyramid felt that the “kids [student workers] hung in there really well,” according to John Nichols, director of student life and activities. They were especially satisfied with the number of students who stayed to clean-up, Nichols said.

One problem, however, did surface during the concert parking. “Some people said they walked all the way from Michigan Street.” Even with the use of the lots in the surrounding area such as Reilly’s Drug Store, St. Thomas Church and Temple Emmanuel, the crowd of 4000 had trouble finding parking places.

The root of the problem was holding the concert on a popular night class session. In the future, Nichols plans to schedule concerts on the weekends to avoid the night-class congestion.

Thirty-five to forty students participated in making the concert a reality and in the meantime enjoyed a great performance.

One of the highlights of the concert was Steve Chapin’s (Harry’s brother) “Love Is Not In Season.” Steve is an excellent pianist and an impressive singer and writer.

Steve’s song was only a small sample of Chapin’s superior band. Big John Wallace, who Chapin has been performing with for twenty years, trumped in with some strong vocals, as well as a “down home” bass guitar.

Doug Walker played electric guitar, Howard Fields manned the drums, and Kim Stones played a masterful cello. All of the members of the band got a chance to show their stuff but best of all they all played as one, never missing a beat.

In “Bummer,” Harry told the story of a boy who grew up on the streets. As usual, his band came through with its suave musical improvisations. Another song which was very touching was “Oh My Jenny,” a song about his daughter.

Early in the concert Harry said, “I think this place [Grand Rapids] up here has become my second home.” As far as Grand Rapids and Aquinas is concerned, Chapin is welcome “home” anytime.
JUSTICE and HUMAN RIGHTS

A Semester-Long Program Commemorating the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights

SPONSORED BY:

Community Senate

Office of Resident Life and Student Activities
Campus Ministry
Grand Rapids Area Council For Humanities

Education for Justice has long been a part of Aquinas' philosophy and mission. To do justice effectively requires that we be informed and knowledgeable. To promote justice challenges us to the study and understanding of Human Rights.

Recent concern and need for a more just society has inspired the involvement of interested persons in the pursuit of justice through education here at Aquinas. A subgroup of our on-going program in Justice Education has initiated this semester-long observance on Human Rights. It is an effort to expand our thinking and understanding of Human Rights and the broader issue of Justice...an effort also directed to a more significant realization of the linkage of global issues to local concerns, and our own personal life...a hope that through our endeavors here on the college level we can contribute to a more just society based on both the Catholic and the United Nations tradition on social teaching.

On-campus activities are planned by several groups including student organizations and faculty persons. You are invited to attend and participate in these activities. Please call in your reservations to the student services office. We hope others will be encouraged to discover what they can contribute to this program during the semester observance.

Intramurals Get Underway

by DAVID HUIZENGA

The Men's and Women's Intramural basketball league began Jan. 31, with five teams competing in the women's league and ten teams in the men's, according to Ernie Mousseau, director of intramurals.

The men's league plays on Wednesdays and Sundays until Feb. 28, when there will be a double elimination play-off tournament for the top four teams. The women's play between Mondays and Thursdays until March 7, when there will be a 2 out of 3 play-off between the top two teams.

The students provide the referees, scorers and timers with Larry Ward acting as student supervisor. The league and play-off winners will receive intramural shirts.

The 31, Men's league scores:

Thompsons Five 84—Fishers 38; Air Ballers 51—The Cagers 46; Stay Cold Pack 43—Shrooms 42; B.S. 71—Third Floor Flyers 38; Dolphins 77—Mean Machine 18.

Swidorski Sees Growth in Women's Sports Program

by NANCY SHIREY

Junior Deb Swidorski, a transfer student from Kellogg College feels Aquinas is "building a fine women's sport's program."

While attending Pennfield High School in Battle Creek, Swidorski lettered in 3 different sports, softball, volleyball and basketball. She was elected to the all-conference team her junior and senior years for basketball and her senior year in volleyball. She also was named the female athlete of the year at her class B high school.

Deb spoke highly of Aquinas and especially her basketball coach, Patti Tibaldi. "She's the best coach I've ever had. She really impresses me and knows what she's talking about. I feel in the next few years Tibaldi will turn this team around, even by next year we'll have an over .500 season."

Majoring in English, Swidorski plans to someday write for a newspaper. Right now she puts in a lot of time just on her basketball. The girls practice 2½ hours every day but Deb expresses her disappointment with student support. "We make baskets and there's hardly anyone there to clap. It would be great to have a crowd get into our games."

The next time Aquinas will be able to show them support is Feb. 20 when Aquinas hosts the Grand Valley Junior Varsity at 7 p.m.

Bocian Given Coaching Honor

by JIM ELLIOTT

Terry Bocian, head baseball coach and first year athletic director at Aquinas College has been named NAIA baseball coach of the year for the fourth time in five years.

Bocian's 1978 baseball squad finished 40-8, the second best record in the nation among colleges. His teams have been known statewide for five out of the last six years. Seven baseball players have been named All-American under Bocian's coaching.

"I am very gratified to say the least. Ninety-one votes came from outstate schools that recognized not only me, but the school," said Bocian. Bocian attributed this honor to the students he's coached. Through their sacrificing, they made the honorable award possible, he said.

Ski Trip Scheduled

by KRIS WOLTANSKI

A perennial favorite, the Algoma Ski Trip, is scheduled for March 2-4.

Sponsored by the Community Senate Outdoor Recreation Committee, the two-day cross-country trip to the Algoma wilderness includes a short ride on the Algoma Snow Train and 4-12 miles of skiing over frozen lakes and through quiet Canadian woods. Novice and expert alike should find the skiing truly enjoyable.

Total cost of the trip is $25. This charge covers the use of Aquinas ski equipment (unless you have your own), transportation, food, lodging and the train ride.

A refundable $10 deposit is to be paid when signing up. However, the trip will be limited to twelve participants.

The group will leave Aquinas sometime Friday afternoon and spend the night in St. Ignace. Early Saturday morning the group will depart to Canada to catch the train. Skiing will take up the majority of Saturday. They will then return to St. Ignace to spend the night. Time of departure to Aquinas on Sunday will be decided by the group.
Track Anticipates Bright Future

by DAVID HUIZENGA

The Aquinas indoor track season is underway with the largest squad in the school's history and also the youngest.

The squad has 25 members, with thirteen freshmen, eight sophomores, and four seniors making up the team.

Coach Ernie Mousseau states that the team members have been working out since the fall with added concentration on strength and endurance. "We have set our goals for a team NIAA district championship and individual All-Americans," says Mousseau.

Mousseau looks for freshmen Al Rodgers 440; Matt Slive, Bob Cornelisse-high jump; Ritch Rodenbaugh-pole vaulter; and Tim Gibson-long jumper, Bob Cornelisse-high jumpers All-Americans," says Mousseau.

With six games to go, the Saints are ahead of last year's schedule and feels that it has reached the goal he set for the team at the beginning of the season.

"I am not at all displeased with this year's performance of the kids...we've played against some great talent this year."

The Saints have lost five games by two points or less. The Saints' record at this writing stands at 9-13.

Along with the fact that basketball practice was started last October, Bocian attributes the team's success to the leadership given by his senior starters.

Tom Bean and Kerry Leffel are the other two senior starters. Bean, a transfer student from Central Michigan, played second semester last year for Aquinas. Leffel was named to three all-tournament teams this season.

With six games to go, the Saints are ahead of last year's season's record of 6-21. Although not a dramatic change to some, this improvement is significant to Bocian.

The Men's JV basketball team has lost their last three games by a combined total of only 6 points.

In a tough game Feb. 3 against Alma, Aquinas finished on the short end of 72-71 final score. A decisive charging foul called on Mike Doremire gave Alma the edge with seconds left in the game.

The Junior Varsity then hosted Calvin Feb. 7. The JV's were not quite as successful as the Varsity as the final score was 70-66. Aquinas looked good all through the game but couldn't match Calvin's offense.

Mousseau also foresees seniors sprinter, to take important roles. and Randy Kebede, to finish with 11.

In the game against Olivet Feb. 10, the Saints played well but were turned away by a last second shot 72-71. Ralph DaVitt, Jim Orlikowski and Steve Wittenbach deserve credit for a well-played game.

Aquinas' record is now 8-7 with seven games left on their schedule. Grand Rapids J.C. and Montcalm College are their next opponents.

The squad has 25 members, with thirteen freshmen, eight sophomores, and four seniors making up the team.
