Tucson citizens are still recovering from the shooting that occurred on January 8, 2011. According to Bureau of Investigation, 14 innocent bystanders were shot, and 6 were killed.

Many of the survivors have been receiving support from organizations like Sturrus Sports & Fitness Center, which provides ongoing training for construction-based workers throughout Michigan, offering “ongoing training and advanced training for those workers.”

The center of this tragedy has been the scene in Tucson after the January 8 shooting.

Michigan: Snyder's first moves in office

By Jim MacHill

Nation: Current goals in Congress

As the new Governor of Michigan, Rick Snyder has made it perfectly clear that he intends to hit the ground running in January. This means more than just the typical limelight; Governor Snyder intends to run as a Governor.

He referenced needing to keep people up to date on his progress as soon as possible. He also mentioned that he plans on having an official Inaugural Speech, and of it he said, "It has to be no more than 3 Plan B's that we can campaign upon upon his first day..."

Snyder's focus so far becomes those being able to lease out unused land and park land to the Department Heads and new staff to replace them. He also mentioned that at least 4 of his 10 points will be on the environment.

Michigan: Snyder has also nudged around the need to reduce the non-sectarian status of public schools which was the top issue of his 10 points.

Yet environmental and tourism concerns in the state seem to have been missed by those newly in office. Michigan: Snyder signed his first executive order which will split the Michigan Department of Natural Resources into two separate departments. The Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Department of Natural Resources (DNR). This is designed to help focus resources and time on important programs. While Executive Order 2011-1 is not effective until March 23 of this year it still provides the first look at the type of administrative action Snyder intends to run as a Governor.

What is in a word?

By Brayson Scott

The Saint Spring Issue 2012

In the spring phrase of that holiday which marks our transition to a new season, the question is often asked: Where is Father? And just as many of you are asking this question, I ask, "Where is the English language?" It is the spring of the year, and the word

The word "nigger" can be defined as the second word in the title, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," by Mark Twain. This is the title of the novel that contains the quote, "The difference between almost anything and absolutely nothing is the use of the word "nigger.""

This thought is absolutely necessary to understand the context of the central debate in school systems across the county on whether to edit or mark Twain's classic "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." People are in arms about the novel's repeated use of the term, "nigger," as well as the overall content and whether or not it is appropriate reading for high school students.

Since its publication in 1884 the novel has been under scrutiny in the 1960s school districts began banning the book and taking it out of school libraries as they were deemed inappropriate for students to read.

However, if one would just do a little research on the reconstruction of the era, they would realize that the use of this word is offensive to be offensively offensive and derogatory.

If you were to read the "nigger" quoted from the novel, you would understand that Twain was trying to prove a point and to provide an accurate representation of the American South.

Even though many students were trained in 18th century America, they have not read the book. They have not been exposed to the words of the time. They have not experienced the language of the time. They have not been able to connect with the past.

It is easy to have an attitude of apathy and disregard of the novel's context; however, the question of maintaining the "nigger" to prove a point and to provide an accurate representation of the American South cannot be ignored.

Firth’s ‘King’ speaks to audiences

By Brayden Scott

The Saint Reporter

As the royal family continues to lose its relevance in the twenty-first century, the film "The King's Speech" explores the scenes of British royalty in a way that few films have done in recent years. Colin Firth, playing the role of King George VI, demonstrates the struggle between perfectionism and vulnerability.

The story is a well done take on the inherent dark force needed to play the manipulative Black Swan as well. It is a story that is not only about the desire for perfection, but about the ultimate price that must be paid to achieve that perfection.

"Black Swan" is, at its heart, an incredibly effective thriller. It is the type of movie that will keep you guessing and on the edge of your seat. It is a film that will stay with you long after the lights come up."
AQ Idol enthusiasm builds

Long live the Decemberbers

By Robert Hartley

T he ninth annual AQ Idol will take place throughout the months of January and February, with three singing competitions ending on the final Friday of March: "Wake Up People." AQ Idol, a way of bringing the Aquinas community together and starting a friendly competition, as well as tradition, is set to begin on Wednesday afternoons in the Substance of the Student Center.

Moose Feb 1 and support Aquinas student Mathew Slee as he leads the Moose stage in a song no longer than two minutes. Slee will be representing the Aquinas student Mathew Slee as he leads the Moose stage in a song no longer than two minutes. Slee will be working on finding judges with music background and three "celebrity" judges on February 18th during "Wake Up People.""We are out now and going quick. If the radio bleeps it, you bleep it too!" said Mathew Slee.

AQ Idol is an event that brings the Aquinas community together and for the students to support their peers.

"This is about trying to build Aquinas tradition, trying to build Aquinas tradition," said Mathew Slee. "We ended up where we needed to be," he said. "We just need the students to show up and support their peers." Slee's idea was to bring in some type of musical competition, sending them to support their peers.

Don't carry it all. I'll be brutally honest. The Decemberists are the band that I've been listening to for some time now. I've heard them on the radio, and I've heard them on the Internet. NFL: Bret Favre files retirement papers

Roughly one week after firing head football coach Rich Rodriguez, the University of Michigan promoted defensive coordinator Brady Hoke to replace him.

"Michigan has always been the dream school," Hoke said. "I'm very excited about the opportunity to return to Ann Arbor and take on this challenge."

Hoke, who was hired away from San Diego State in 2011, has been the defensive coordinator of the Michigan defense since 2012. During his time at Michigan, the Wolverines have improved in nearly every facet of their game, from defense to special teams.

"I think we're in a better place overall," Hoke said. "I think we've got a lot of young talent here that can help us out this year."

Hoke's promotion comes after Rodriguez was fired on Friday morning, following a 1-4 start to the season. Rodriguez was fired after losing to Michigan State, one of the worst losses in Michigan football history.

"I don't think it's going to be easy," Hoke said. "But I think we've got the talent and the coaching staff to turn things around."

Michigan State's head coach, Mark Dantonio, has compiled a 67-39-2 record in 13 seasons at the school and is considered one of the most successful coaches in the Big Ten Conference.

"I think we've got a lot of work to do," Hoke said. "But I think we've got the talent and the coaching staff to turn things around."

The Men's Track & Field team completed two of their seven regular season meets this past weekend at Grand Valley State University and the second at Central Michigan University.

"We have some really good athletes on this team," head coach Alvin Howard said. "And we're excited to see how they perform in these meets."

At Grand Valley State, both teams placed first in four events, and the women's team also finished first in the 4x400 relay.

At Central Michigan University, both teams placed first in two events, and the men's team also finished first in the 4x400 relay.

"We're excited about the way we're running," Howard said. "And we're excited to see how we perform in these meets."

The Men's Track & Field team consists of two different kinds of runners, who compete in different events.

"We have some really good athletes on this team," head coach Alvin Howard said. "And we're excited to see how they perform in these meets."

The Aquinas men's basketball team has struggled to find consistency this season, but the Saints have begun to hit a stride.

"I think we're getting better every game," head coach John Moe said. "And we're excited to see how we perform in these meets."

In their last game, the Saints defeated Aquinas College 87-65, overcoming a 17-point deficit in the second half.

"I think we're getting better every game," Moe said. "And we're excited to see how we perform in these meets."

At Michigan, winning is the most important thing. Like Harbaugh, Miles fits the bill as a "Michigan Man" and on top of that - former San Diego State head coach, Utah's winningest head coach, and a man who might lack the national recognition of Harbaugh - is the man the fan base wants back.

"I think he's a great choice," said Dan Foley, Aquinas basketball alumnus. "And he's a great fit for the university."

College Football analyses everything from week to week. This is why they sharpen their heads as they pondered the question: How does this team score? The Bear's defensive line will be the key. But in the first week of the season, the Bears were forced to add a defensive tackle to their roster due to a shoulder injury. This move strengthened the team's defense and helped them secure a win in their first game against the Eagles.

The Bears went on to make it to the Super Bowl, where they played against the Colts. The Bears emerged victorious with a score of 27-21. This win solidified their place in the championship and earned them the respect of the nation.

In conclusion, the 2011 college football season was full of unexpected surprises and memorable moments. The Bears were one of the teams that stood out and made a mark in the history books. Their journey from an unknown team to a Super Bowl contender was a testament to their hard work and dedication. With the 2012 season just around the corner, fans are eagerly waiting to see what the Bears have in store for the upcoming year.
