College is not easy. Imagine how much more difficult it would be without a place to call home. Home senior Jessie McCormick has managed to successfully navigate through her three and a half years of college even without a place to call home.

With no convenient place to go to on different breaks and little time for relaxation, McCormick decided to do something about it for her fellow students who lack permanent housing.

"Through the website change.org, McCormick started a petition during this fall break. In her petition, McCormick, called for Aquinas to "provide a safe housing for underprivileged students during break periods, especially during the cold winter months."

McCormick described the lack of permanent youth and successfully finished high school looking for a place to call home. Her struggles with housing have been serious cause for concern. McCormick, noted that "Aquinas College's provision for students suffering from homelessness or students in residence hall housing during the summer month, is limited to mostly apartments during the summer months."

She notes that students without stable homes "left without options" during some of these breaks.

McCormick started the petition on October 25, and by October 31, her petition had reached 100,000 signatures.

"In supporting McCormick's cause, many people stated their reasons for supporting the petition. Although many supporters pointed at College, McCormick's petition quickly gained support around the country. Many people noted their awareness of homeless students, and how they were being left by the lack of housing support during breaks."

"On Monday, November 18, a common read panel was held in the Carriage House to discuss the Keep Your Health Plan Act," the proposal is a response to the ACA, namely the bill that failed the roll-call vote in the House of Representatives on November 18.

"The bill is not expected to pass in the Senate, which means that the website hicups will continue. In fact, because of the website hicups, the site is expected to take longer than expected to become fully functional."

"The website will work much slower on November 30, December 20," her petition is still functioning. "That's a pretty low bar."

"As an upperclassman, I have noticed a pretty low bar."

In support of McCormick and the Keep Your Health Plan Act, there is a proposal to rewrite the Affordable Care Act in the form of the Democratic Party.

The bill, which won a 250-167 vote, would allow health insurance companies to keep writing policies that do not meet ACA requirements. towards the cinema but also in the business world. It is because of this that we can say that cinema has been a source of culture and entertainment.

A night at the movies seems to be a good option for a weekend. Hailing from Muskegon, MI, Lawrence, for example, who received a salary of $500,000 for The Hurt Locker, was always the place to go. A night at the movies can be a great way to relax and unwind. However, going to the movies has become more expensive over the years. The high intensity movie has you feeling like an astronaut yourself, floating in a space station out of this world. The groundbreaking for Apartment E building set to break ground soon says that the film industry is still remain a welcomed friend to the people.

My family and I saw some incredible documentaries such as The Cove and the documentary about the golden rush? I worry that with movie studios running the world of cinema, we are in for a great deal of change. New Apartment E building set to break ground soon says that the film industry is still remain a welcomed friend to the people.

Over 18,000 people have been injured and 1,100 people have been reported missing as of Monday night. With the full scope of need yet to come, relief efforts have been underway across the world. A large bulk of supplies, medicines, and food was set to reach Cebu on November 17. The Red Cross immediately began taking monetary and supply donations.

Typhoon takes a toll in the Philippines

On November 8, a typhoon ripped through the Philippines, devastating the surrounding areas. Typhoon Phoenix, or as it is locally known, Typhoon Yolanda, has claimed the lives of over 5,000 people, more than half of them children. Although the storm was downgraded to a tropical depression, the damage it caused was immense. The storm's path ran right through the heart of the Philippines, affecting popular areas as well as more remote, less populated areas. Even weeks after the storm, the damage across the country is still too great to measure. Filipino President Benigno Aquino declared the storm a "national calamity."

According to NBC, the storm was the strongest typhoon in the world this year, with winds reaching over 280 miles per hour. The storm's path ran right through the heart of the Philippines, affecting popular areas as well as more remote, less populated areas. Even weeks after the storm, the damage across the country is still too great to measure.

STORMY DAYS

Bad weather hits the Midwest and AQ is no exception

As storms rolled through midwestern United States this past weekend, Grand Rapids was not exempt from high winds and heavy rain. Other parts of the midwest were severely hit, as multiple tornados were whipped through by six states. Illinois being hit the hardest. The tornados and severe thunderstorms hit portions of the state, including Chicago, Washington County, Illinois, leaving behind three million homes without power. Any building or one in the tornado's path was damaged leaving massive damage. At least eight people, six in Illinois and two in Michigan, were killed by the November 7 storms.

Relief efforts began on Monday morning, as the storm's damage was initially assessed.

In West Michigan, the storms started Sunday afternoon and continued through the evening. A tornado watch was in effect until Monday afternoon for Kent County until 4:30 p.m. Storms also occurred overnight, leaving a large power in large parts of Kent County.

As many of you are no doubt aware, hunting season is upon us. Many of us have been for some time. I only have to look at the Facebook page for my Facebook family to know that there is an eager group of people on good days to give themselves the option of hunting. As of right now, I am sure that many of you are already thoughts about hunting. I, for one, am seriously considering hunting. I have always been a hunter, and it is one of my favorite hobbies. However, it is not for everyone. I believe that it is important to consider the ethical implications of hunting.

Dr. Peter V. Schiavone, a professor at Michigan State University, has written an article on this topic. In his article, he discusses the ethical dilemmas associated with hunting. He argues that hunting is a moral issue, and that it is important to consider the consequences of our actions. He also argues that hunting should not be allowed on campus, as it is considered a violation of the university's code of conduct.

In conclusion, I believe that hunting should not be allowed on campus. It is a serious ethical issue, and it is important to consider the consequences of our actions. I urge everyone to think carefully about the implications of hunting, and to consider the ethical dilemmas associated with this activity.

Avril Lavigne still reigns as the princess of the pop-rock

By Stephania Gilks

Avril Lavigne's latest album takes a turn for the good, the bad and even wonky has its song, "What the Hell." In some points, these songs paint the music scene as the pine-tabled, and "Stuck in a Dull Dream," with its pitifully short and unremarkable chorus, has not yet changed her music as well.

"Breaking the Habit," which is a fun, entertaining romp with a list of personal notes. One of the thirteen songs, "The One," is a hint for what lies in store for you: lots of new material.
