Former UN Ambassador makes special appearance

By Michael Buck

Richard Holbrooke, former United Nations ambassador to the United States, spoke to the Progressive Women's Alliance of West Michigan during a recent visit to Aquinas College. Holbrooke pleaded with undecided voters to increase diplomacy, challenging the current presidential administration.

"It was clearly an effort to persuade voters," said Holbrooke. "Progressive Aquinas College. There didn't seem to be any reparation in his information."

In the course of his speech, Holbrooke made it clear that Iraq had the potential to become the most serious and dangerous event in history and whoever wins the white house will take on, "an very heavy agenda."

During a separate interview Holbrooke urged people to go out and vote no matter what their motivation may be. "It is absolutely critical that 18-25 year olds exercise their right to vote," he said.

A Democrat and a supporter, Holbrooke has served as the foreign policy advisor to the Kerry Campaign and held various posts under the Clinton administration, including ambassador to the United Nations, and has been involved in diplomatic relations for nearly 42 years.

During his time with the United Nations, Holbrooke helped to re-establish relations between the United States and the U.N. He reduced membership dues for the United States and released nearly $42,000,000 owed to the U.N. by the United States and enlisted the help of Ted Turner to aid in the payment of this money.

Holbrooke used his abilities to encourage students to vote in the upcoming election and whoever wins the white house will perform 300 hours worth of service that requires students to perform 300 hours worth of service in an academic year— which breaks down to roughly 10 hours per week.

"I'm supportive of the program because it supports service and volunteerism. It helps support people like me who want to volunteer," Lewis said. These 300 hundred hours can be performed a multitude of ways, just as long as they deal with mentoring, early childhood education and development or adequate yearly progress schools.

Holbrooke was also the recipient of the AmeriCorps Educational Award—a $1,000 scholarship that requires students to perform 300 hours worth of service in an academic year. The other nine recipients from Aquinas are Julie Ferretti, Andrea Gainok, Jacqueline Hurley, Ferstle, Andrea Gainok, Jacqueline Hurley, Gwich'in Nation with clothing, tools, weapons, shelter and medicine. Their sustainability relies on the caribou population, which is being threatened by a government proposal of oil and gas development in the sacred area.

Banerjee decided that he wanted to become involved in saving the Gwich'in and the caribou from destruction. Through his photography and collaboration with the Indian community, Banerjee worked closely with the help of Ted Turner to aid in the payment of this money.

Holbrooke used his abilities to encourage students to vote in the upcoming election and whoever wins the white house will perform 300 hours worth of service that requires students to perform 300 hours worth of service in an academic year— which breaks down to roughly 10 hours per week.

"I'm supportive of the program because it supports service and volunteerism. It helps support people like me who want to volunteer," Lewis said. These 300 hundred hours can be performed a multitude of ways, just as long as they deal with mentoring, early childhood education and development or adequate yearly progress schools.

Banerjee's photographs are currently on exhibit at the Grand Rapids Art Museum through November 7. More information about Subtankar Banerjee's projects can be found at www.worldwithoutborders.com.

AQ campus inspired by nature activist Banerjee

Story by Emily Johnson • Photography Editor

Award-winning photographer Subtankar Banerjee shakes the hand of an enthusiastic audience member following a speech at Aquinas. A native of Calcutta who came to the U.S. to study science, Banerjee spoke in the Wege Ballroom (pictured right) to increase public awareness of health and the well-being of the planet.

Banerjee decided that he wanted to become involved in saving the Gwich'in and the caribou from destruction. Through his photography and collaboration with the Indian community, Banerjee worked closely with the help of Ted Turner to aid in the payment of this money.

Holbrooke used his abilities to encourage students to vote in the upcoming election and whoever wins the white house will perform 300 hours worth of service that requires students to perform 300 hours worth of service in an academic year— which breaks down to roughly 10 hours per week.

"I'm supportive of the program because it supports service and volunteerism. It helps support people like me who want to volunteer," Lewis said. These 300 hundred hours can be performed a multitude of ways, just as long as they deal with mentoring, early childhood education and development or adequate yearly progress schools.

Banerjee's photographs are currently on exhibit at the Grand Rapids Art Museum through November 7. More information about Subtankar Banerjee's projects can be found at www.worldwithoutborders.com.

A new season: Buttevantars and basketball teams begin their new season with the same goal: improving upon last year's performance.

Volunteer and service work pays dividends for eleven AQ students

By Jamie LaDronka

For some, taking a 15-hour credit load provides enough work to fill a weekly schedule. However, this isn't the case for Ben Johnson.

It's not the case for Joyce Lewis either. Of the additional nine Aquinas students who were awarded the AmeriCorps Educational Award—a $1,000 scholarship that requires students to perform 300 hours worth of service in an academic year— which breaks down to roughly 10 hours per week.

"I'm supportive of the program because it supports service and volunteerism. It helps support people like me who want to volunteer," Lewis said. These 300 hundred hours can be performed a multitude of ways, just as long as they deal with mentoring, early childhood education and development or adequate yearly progress schools.

Banerjee's photographs are currently on exhibit at the Grand Rapids Art Museum through November 7. More information about Subtankar Banerjee's projects can be found at www.worldwithoutborders.com.

ENTERTAINMENT: "The Godfather of Creative Non-fiction" pays a visit to Aquinas College. Read all about it on page 5.

OPINION: Regardless of who is in office now, they will have a tough four-year term ahead of them. Details on page 6.
Bill in U.S. Senate proposes to standardize Michigan IDs

New bill would create national driver’s license database and more

By Kendall Madden

According to physical therapists, doctors and ergonomists alike, the poor posture assumed by many people when working at a desk or typing away at a paper or computer keyboard can cause natures a lifetime.

In the United States, more than 100,000 workers are treated each year for injuries and illnesses associated with repetitive strain injuries. Such injuries can be caused by

- Repetitive motions of the fingers and wrists
- Repetitive use of the elbows and shoulders
- Repetitive use of the knees and hips
- Repetitive use of the back and neck

Carpal tunnel syndrome is a common disorder caused by injury to the median nerve, which provides sensation to the palm and fingers on the inner side of the hand. The symptoms of carpal tunnel syndrome include pain, numbness, tingling, and weakness in the hand.

To reduce the tension in the neck, back, and shoulders, it is important to maintain a good posture while working on a computer. This can be achieved by adjusting the height and position of the keyboard and monitor to ensure they are at eye level and at a comfortable distance from the body.

Ergonomics is something that is often overlooked when working on a computer. By making small adjustments to the workspace and posture, it is possible to prevent discomfort and injury.

The success of this new methodology will depend on how well it is implemented and whether or not it is adopted by employers and employees. It is important to note that early adoption will be crucial to the success of this methodology.

Additionally, computer stands, such as the Egghead or the Laptop Riser, can be used to elevate the computer monitor and keyboard, reducing the strain on the neck and shoulders.

In conclusion, taking care of your body while working on a computer is crucial to maintaining good posture and preventing injuries. By making small adjustments to your workspace and posture, it is possible to prevent discomfort and injury.

Enjoy a double order of fries

(Enough for two) for just $11

And 10 oz. Top Shelf or Caribbean Margaritas are just $2.

GRAND VIENNA

3700 Town Center Pkwy. Sw.
2135 E. Beltline NORTHWOOD WYOMING

540-7801

GRAND RAPIDS

760-5423

GRILL & BAR

540-7801

www.grillandbar.com

Free box of soap with this ad.

1059 Wealthy St. SE

(In the Tollman Retail Center)

Between Fuller and Diamond

GRAND RAPIDS

3700 Town Center Pkwy. Sw.
2135 E. Beltline Northwood

540-7801

KENTWOOD

495-8992

540-8001

GRAND RAPIDS

540-7973

FREE Wireless Internet connection

We do not take phone reservations.

• 361.1992

Kentucky Fried Chicken

460-7973

Free beer with this ad.

Enjoy a double order of fries

(Enough for two) for just $11

And 10 oz. Top Shelf or Caribbean Margaritas are just $2.

GRAND VIENNA

3700 Town Center Pkwy. Sw.
2135 E. Beltline NORTHWOOD WYOMING

540-7801

GRAND RAPIDS

760-5423

GRILL & BAR

540-7801

www.grillandbar.com

Free box of soap with this ad.

1059 Wealthy St. SE

(In the Tollman Retail Center)

Between Fuller and Diamond

GRAND RAPIDS

3700 Town Center Pkwy. Sw.
2135 E. Beltline Northwood

540-7801

KENTWOOD

495-8992

540-8001

GRAND RAPIDS

540-8001

FREE Wireless Internet connection

We do not take phone reservations.

• 361.1992

Kentucky Fried Chicken

460-7973

Free beer with this ad.

Enjoy a double order of fries

(Enough for two) for just $11

And 10 oz. Top Shelf or Caribbean Margaritas are just $2.
Peppino’s Has Lower Carbs
Try Any of Our Delicious Pizzas on Our Lower Carb Thin Crust!
Try Our Lower Fat Veggie Pizza on Our Thin Crust!

SALADS
GARDEN SALAD $2.50
CHEF SALAD $2.75
ANTIPASTO SALAD $3.25
GRILLED CHICKEN SALAD $3.99

MUNCHIES
15 Wings $6.99
PEPPINO’S CHEESY BREAD STICKS with Sauce $3.49

THREE TOPPINGS
14” Med $7.99
16” Lg $8.99

3 Pizza Deal $5.00 EACH
Valid with 3 pizza minimum order only

Coupons on this page can be combined but are not valid with other offers or discounts.
Check Our Web Site for Coupons, Specials and Complete Menu
www.peppinospizza.com

3 Toppings Deluxe Available Everyday

We bring the very best of Chicago to you! Starting with a layer of our famous sauce, then comes our delicious toppings inside a thick golden crust, next it gets loaded with our 100% mozzarella cheese — and finally it is topped off with more of our famous sauce. Peppino's Perfection!

Choose from BBQ, Hot & Spicy, or Zesty Italian
The last thing you need

By Rafael Reif

"It's time for a dose of everyone's favorite hobby: listening to music. If you're anything like me, you don't care what's going on outside of your window as long as you can hear it. The east side of the state might be that's going' on outside of your claims (yeah, like that movie). Our I an enclave of flesh-eating lepre- ;..."
“Godfather” does a favor for AO

By Brigid Marquardt

A man known as "The Godfather" visited the Wige Bailey Auditorium on October 27. Fortunately, there were no reports of homicides or severed statistics due to the fact that the event was not a major news story and appeared on no news broadcasts. The Godfather was accompanied by his trusted right-hand man, known as "The Captain," who was responsible for the logistics of the event.

The Godfather’s visit was well-received by the audience, who seemed to enjoy his presence and the opportunity to listen to his stories. The Godfather himself was gracious and accommodating, taking time to speak with members of the audience and answering questions about his life and career. He also signed copies of his new book, "The Godfather’s Takes on Life, Love, and Death," for those who were fortunate enough to attend.

The event closed with a reception where attendees had the chance to network and discuss the latest developments in the world of creative nonfiction. The Godfather made an appearance at the reception, chatting with fans and signing more copies of his book. Overall, the evening was a success, and many were eager to attend future Godfather-related events.

---

Breakdowns in punk rock

By Kara Gheklof

The Godfather’s work on "The Godfather," the classic novel by Mario Puzo, has inspired many artists in the punk rock genre. One of the most notable examples is the song "Godfather," performed by the band The Godfather. The song, which was released in 1972, was a hit and helped launch the band’s career.

The song’s lyrics depict the Godfather as a powerful and enigmatic figure, who is often portrayed as a calculating and ruthless businessman. The song’s chorus, "I’m gonna get you, I’m gonna get you, I’m gonna get you, I’m gonna get you," has become a popular chant among punk rockers and has been adopted by many other rock bands.

The song’s success was due in large part to its use of the Godfather’s name, which was already a well-known term in popular culture. The song’s popularity continued to grow throughout the 1970s, and it remains a classic of the punk rock genre today.

---

Elliott Smith bids fond farewell with final album

By Dylan Jones

Lulu, London, UK - The long-awaited and much-anticipated album by the late Elliott Smith, "Figure 8," was released this week. The album is a testament to Smith’s talent and creativity and includes some of his most memorable songs.

The album opens with the powerful and emotional track "Figure 8," which features Smith’s signature blend of acoustic guitar and vocal arrangements. The song is a reflection on Smith’s struggles with addiction and his ultimately successful recovery.

The album also includes the beautiful ballad "I’m Not the One," which was written for Smith’s daughter and is a tribute to her. The song is a love letter to his daughter and a celebration of the bond between father and daughter.

The album closes with thetrack "Figure 8 (Reprise)," which is a gentle and somber reflection on Smith’s life and career. The song is a fitting end to a remarkable body of work and a fitting tribute to an artist whose music will continue to inspire and uplift generations to come.

The release of "Figure 8" has been met with universal praise and critical acclaim. Fans and critics alike have praised Smith’s talent and the emotional depth of his music. The album is a fitting tribute to a musical genius who left too soon but whose legacy will live on forever.
A new breed of checking

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.

By Kilby Dittmar

For months, we have been exposed to commercials, ads, and speeches from the candidates for President and their supporters.

Beginning one of the most negative campaigns has been the Bush vs. Gore political party polarization that has occurred on issues that we cannot seem to get away from. Both parties have continued to gain public attention, with both accusing each other of tactics.

There continues to be a negative perception about the war in Iraq, which has been the subject of much debate in recent weeks.

The American public is left to decide whether or not the war is worth the sacrifices made by our military personnel.

The next four years will bring more challenges for the new President, but it is up to the American people to decide how they want to move forward.

The Saint

The Saint

Operations Editor: Jamie LaDronka

Sports Editor: Evelyn Burns

Editor and Chief: Alyssa Galva

Editorial Board

The Saint is distributed by students at Aquinas College and in the surrounding community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community. Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views, and concerns of the Aquinas community.

As we look forward to the new year, it is important to be aware of the issues that are currently facing our country.

The Saint

The Saint

Letters to the Editor

The Saint

OPINION

No matter the President, the coming four years will be tough.
Michigan rallies from 17-point deficit to beat Spartans

By Bryan Esler

Michigan State University (MSU), the Big Ten Conference's most storied program, finally got its chance to reclaim the bragging rights over its biggest rival, Michigan, by beating the Wolverines at Michigan Stadium.

The game began with Michigan leading 14-0 after one quarter, but Michigan State battled back to take a 21-20 lead at halftime. The second half saw even more drama as Michigan State extended its lead to 31-20, only to have Michigan rally to within five points with three minutes left in the game.

MSU's quarterback, Drew Stanton, stepped up in the clutch, leading the Spartans on a 10-play, 70-yard drive that ended with a 2-yard touchdown run by fullback William White. The extra point was missed, but MSU had the lead back at 27-26 with less than a minute to play.

Michigan State couldn't keep the lead, however, as Michigan quarterback John Tate Miller threw a 9-yard touchdown pass to tight end Christian Fauria with 23 seconds left to tie the game at 31-31.

On the ensuing kickoff, Michigan State's Johnnie Ford returned the kick 100 yards for a touchdown, giving Michigan State the lead back at 38-31 with 12 seconds left in the game.

Michigan State then lined up to attempt a field goal, but the play was nullified by a penalty, and the Spartans were forced to attempt a field goal from the 14-yard line with six seconds left.

The field goal attempt was blocked, and Michigan State recovered the ball on the Michigan 19-yard line. The Wolverine defense held, and Michigan State was able to run out the clock and win the game.

Michigan State head coach Lloyd Carr said after the game, "It was a matter of getting our focus back on the game and not being distracted by the outside noise.

As for the team's next opponent, the Spartans, Michigan State will face Ohio State next week. The Buckeyes have a strong offensive line and a talented quarterback in Craig Craigie, so the Spartans will have their work cut out for them.

Spartan coach Lloyd Carr said, "We know what we're in for, and we're ready to accept the challenge.

The men's basketball team will also face a tough test when they travel to West Virginia to take on the Mountaineers in a conference game.

Sparty fans should not lose hope, however, as the Spartans have shown they can compete with the best teams in the nation. With two conference games left, the Spartans still have a chance to make a run at the Big Ten title.

But for now, the focus is on Michigan State, as the Spartans look to regroup and prepare for the next challenge.
SHOOTING for success
Aquinas men look to improve on last year's successful season

After finishing as an impressive 10-13 under first-year head coach Steve檻tern, the first-year men’s basketball program looks to take its game to another level this season. The team is coming off a strong remaining class, being led by Darrin Macy, a 2003 second-team All-WAAC selection. Macy averaged 13.1 ppg and 4.6 rebounds. Also leading the Saints in Jeff Jeary, who was a WHAC All-Newcomer selection in 2004. He averaged 14.1 ppg and 4.1 rpg and finished out of the conference tournament scoring.

The program, which incorporates an intense blend of off-season training and physical conditioning, is led by Steve Morgan, assistant coach, Matt Deller, and head coach Linda Nash. Nash simply said, “We can’t overlook anyone.”

The Saints are led by veteran point guard and three-year starter who made a name for herself last year on the team is Jackie Braspenninx, who was a WHAC All-Newcomer selection in 2004. She averaged 14.1 ppg and 4.1 rpg and finished out of the conference tournament scoring.

Nash admitted that the program incorporates an intense blend of off-season training and physical conditioning, is led by Steve Morgan, assistant coach, Matt Deller, and head coach Linda Nash. Nash simply said, “We can’t overlook anyone.”

Other returning starters include Jeff Jeary, who was a WHAC All-Newcomer selection in 2004. He averaged 14.1 ppg and 4.1 rpg and finished out of the conference tournament scoring.

The Saints kicked off their 2004 season with a series of three games, both home and away. They open their season non-conference November 28 against Tabor University. Nash says January 1st against St. Thomas.

Upcoming Home Games

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Opponent</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11/5</td>
<td>Whittier</td>
<td>7:30pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/12</td>
<td>Marygrove</td>
<td>7:30pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/19</td>
<td>St. Olaf</td>
<td>7:30pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12/3</td>
<td>Calvary</td>
<td>7:30pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12/10</td>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>7:30pm</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Aquinas College

Women power up for victory

The Detroit Pistons wrapped up preseason play on Friday, facing the Minnesota Timberwolves by a score of 102-72. Leading the Pistons in scoring was Caron Butler with 23 points. Kevin Garnett led the Timberwolves with 27 points.

The Pistons open up their regular season on Wednesday against the Houston Rockets on Thanksgiving Day.

NASCAR: Hendrick race plane crashes

The Hendrick Motorsports plane crashed on U.S. 350 near Gary, Indiana on Tuesday afternoon, killing both pilots.

The plane was carrying Hendrick and Hendrick’s son, Robby, to the October 30th race at Talladega.

The plane was carrying Hendrick and Hendrick’s son, Robby, to the October 30th race at Talladega.