The year-long anniversary celebration of Charismatic contacts with “Community”

By Samantha Swartout
Staff Writer

As the 2011-2012 school year comes to a close, so do the 15th Anniversary celebrations of Aquinas College.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.

According to Jeffries, a survey conducted by Marketing and Master of the Arts for the 12th Anniversary Planning Committee who spearheaded the year’s events. “Along with the College and Community, we are looking forward to the results,” said Jeffries.
Grand Rapids: New movie theater coming your way

The owners of Celebration Cinema have announced that a new multiplex movie theater will be opening in late spring in Grand Rapids. Located next to Portage Mall, the new theater will feature 10 screens and a variety of amenities for moviegoers.

Michigan: Holland and Greenhills hospitals in top 10 nationally

Holland Hospital and Spectrum Health United Methodist Hospitals are among the best hospitals in the state, according to U.S. News & World Report. The hospitals have been recognized for their excellence in various specialties.

News briefs

Laura Farrell, who will be the new editor of the column, has expressed her thoughts about becoming a regular contributor.

That was often my experience with writing fiction. I would spend hours poring over a concrete concept, a strong-willed dialogue or a narrative arc, and the end result was often trite, formulaic or clichéd. However, in my more recent works, I feel like I’ve been able to think more about the bigger picture and the mind behind the work.

By Brian Kalchik

Meet your current editors from the 2013 Heartside Pride staff. This year, they're featuring a small group of writers who have been with the staff since last year, as well as new voices.
Exploring the rainforests in Costa Rica

The Wege Foundation Lecture Series brings biologist Dr. Daniel J. Janzen to campus.

By Samantha Swart

Thursday, April 19, from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., the Wege Foundation Lecture Series will take place in the Saint Center Room with "Tropical Conservation for the 21st Century: Development" and will be presented by Dr. Daniel J. Janzen.

Dr. Janzen is an expert in conservation biology and is known for his work around the world.

He has been devoted to, it has become widely adopted and has a passion for it. Students studying in Costa Rica each year, Dr. Daniel J. Janzen will present his research on the biodiversity in the Costa Rican rainforest.

The Saint Editorial Staff

Celebrating mother earth and a healthy dose of AQ pride

A recap on SpringFest and a look forward to Earth Day on April 22

By Chuck Hyde

Last Saturday, April 14, was the annual SpringFest brunch in the Sports Center on campus, which has become an annual tradition for students on campus.

The event was filled with other fantastic events.

The group is currently working on a zero-waste plan that proposes no work with CBS where he planted seeds.

He has received recognition for his work with CBS news.

Mike Wallace, the long-time CBS newsman, died at his home on April 7. He was 84 years old.

Mike received the award for Chef Professional of the Year in 1993.

Mike is a very humble person who gives credit to the kitchen staff.

Native GR news reporter and CBS anchor Mike Wallace dies

By Cassandra Lluch

Mike Wallace, the longtime CBS newsman, died at his home in Westport, Conn., on Friday. He was 84.

Mike Wallace received the award for Chef Professional of the Year in 1993.

Mike is a very humble person who gives credit to the kitchen staff.

The group is currently working on a zero-waste plan that proposes no work with CBS news.

He has received recognition for his work with CBS news.

Mike Wallace, the long-time CBS newsman, died at his home on April 7. He was 84 years old.

Mike received the award for Chef Professional of the Year in 1993.
deadlines have a good side

By Matt Kuczyński

Editorial Board

Exam work is fast approaching, and that final push of research, paper writing and studying is breaking into our time for students. Plenty of people are already suffering from exam fatigue, and complaints are heard.

"It seemed like this would never end..." "If we could get an extension..." "Why is this due on the 13th?"

While fighting sleep deprivation, and staying North Korea's wholly unimpressive rocket launch; Catherine Conner, for putting names with faces while fighting sleep deprivation, and staying awesome while doing it.

Trees that fall down in the street;

Post-graduation plans, or lack thereof.

Monica Rischiotto

Letters should not exceed 300 words. We will not print anonymous letters to the AP Style Guide; our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views and concerns of the Aquinas community.

A & E Editor

Editor-in-Chief

Monica Rischiotto

We have some of your own changes, too.

Monica Rischiotto

Letters should not exceed 300 words. We will not print anonymous letters to the AP Style Guide; our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views and concerns of the Aquinas community.

A & E Editor

Editor-in-Chief

Monica Rischiotto

Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views and concerns of the Aquinas community.

A & E Editor

Editor-in-Chief

Monica Rischiotto

Our goal is to continue to provide an open forum for the ideas, views and concerns of the Aquinas community.
Student show wrapped up by Karen Russell, Design & Technology reporter

This past Sunday, I had the good fortune of going to “In the Spirit of Steampunk,” an Annual All-Media Student Show held at Aquinas’ Art and Music Center.

The show was a bit of a disappointment, I regret to say. It was a bit of a let down to see what level of creativity, passion, and talent are being showcased by our students when there are excellent shows on campus year round like the annual Film Festival, the Student Show, Art and Music Center.

But, let’s get it out of the way. This show did not disappoint, of­fering something for everybody, no matter what your interest was. The pieces include print, hand­made jewelry, sculpture, and video. “The regression from a more intricate, detailed stillness and loyal attention to detail. The pieces include print, hand­made jewelry, sculpture, and video. “The regression from a more intricate, detailed stillness and loyal attention to detail. The pieces include print, hand­made jewelry, sculpture, and video. “The regression from a more intricate, detailed stillness and loyal attention to detail. The pieces include print, hand­made jewelry, sculpture, and video. “The regression from a more intricate, detailed stillness and loyal attention to detail. The pieces include print, hand­made jewelry, sculpture, and video. “The regression from a more intricate, detailed stillness and loyal attention to detail.

In particular, Triptych I by Marynational students, the energy level, flush from wall to wall, and silver, steel, were outstanding. Most were colorfully painted and sat comfortably at the top of the island, though some were dark and gloomy due to the season.

There is one negative thing to say about this show. It was not well­attended. I saw a lot of students, but I wish there would have been more, showcasing the talents of a single room, the gal­lery includes the whole upper floor, and not only did it give the students a chance to show off their talents, but it also made the gallery more hospitable to them.

In particular, Triptych I by Marynational students, the energy level, flush from wall to wall, and silver, steel, were outstanding. Most were colorfully painted and sat comfortably at the top of the island, though some were dark and gloomy due to the season.

There is one negative thing to say about this show. It was not well­attended. I saw a lot of students, but I wish there would have been more, showcasing the talents of a single room, the gal­lery includes the whole upper floor, and not only did it give the students a chance to show off their talents, but it also made the gallery more hospitable to them.
Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

American Reunion fails to live up to expectations

by Yasmine Ahmed

The latest from the American Pie franchise isn’t worth seeing. Everything comes together in the end, although some things fall flat. The humor did not quite meet expectations. There were some very funny scenes, but overall the humor fell flat. Also, many viewers were shocked by the sexual content. The film encourages viewers to not wear your best underwear. The film was not appropriate for children.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians. The parent's hard work and dedication to the music department is evident in the fresh faces of the students who put their performance. The Aquinas community were able enjoy the performances Aquinas has offer.

Spring Jazz Night

by Laura Farrell

It has been one hundred years since the tragic ending of the "unsinkable” RMS Titanic. And it has been fifty years since director James Cameron brought the story of the ship to life, creating a masterpiece of a movie and pushing the limits of special effects and budgets. It has been one hundred years since the Titanic sank, but our official name is the intergalactic vessel "Aquinas College".

Instruments Ensembles had students making wonderful music together

by Stephanie Giluk

Last year, a student sent a letter to the newspaper saying that he was going to bring back the music department. The music department had been killed off the previous year. The student said that he was going to bring back the music department and make it a major part of the school. The student said that he was going to hire a music teacher and start a music program.

Instruments Ensembles had students making wonderful music together

by Stephanie Giluk

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.

American Reunion fails to live up to expectations

by Yasmine Ahmed

The latest from the American Pie franchise isn’t worth seeing. Everything comes together in the end, although some things fall flat. The humor did not quite meet expectations. There were some very funny scenes, but overall the humor fell flat. Also, many viewers were shocked by the sexual content. The film encourages viewers to not wear your best underwear. The film was not appropriate for children.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.

Titanic in 3D might just be worth seeing

by Katherine Milt

As spring struggled to get a foothold, with winter's cold shoulders and chattering of dog whistles, the Aquinas community was finally able enjoy performances by the instrumental ensembles. Students musically skilled at every level—freshman, sophomores, juniors and seniors—braved the cold to show their love for their fellow students. The 25 teenage musicians.
WHAT TO WATCH AT A MAN'S TENNIS

The Aquinas College men's tennis team will be looking to continue their dominating play in this year's WHAC Championship Tournament in Grand Rapids this Thursday and Friday. The men's tennis team, led by Head Coach Kyle Masteller, has compiled a 17-2 overall record this season and is the #1 seed in the tournament. The team has not lost a single dual match this season and has won its last six matches by a combined score of 60-2.

The team's success is due in large part to the talent and depth of their roster. Aquinas has four players ranked in the top 10 in the WHAC, with senior Daniel White leading the way at #1. The team also has a strong supporting cast, including freshman Luke Nowak and sophomore Ryan McCormick, who have been instrumental in the team's success.

The men's tennis team has been dominant all season, winning both the regular season WHAC Championship and the WHAC Tournament Championship. They are looking to continue their winning ways in the NCAA Tournament and have their sights set on a national championship.

The men's tennis team will be looking to make a statement in the WHAC Championship Tournament and prove that they are one of the best teams in the country. With their depth and talent, they have the potential to make a deep run in the tournament and secure a national championship.
Women's lacrosse prepares for playoffs

By Chuck Thynne

The last two weekends, the Aquinas College men's and women's track and field teams had a moderate amount of success. The Aquinas men's track team competed in the All-American Invitational in East Lansing, while the women's track team competed in the Wolverine Invitational in Adrian. The next meet will take place at Home Field on May 9.

Cheer team places seventh in the nation

By Alyssa Frese

The Aquinas College cheer team finished seventh at the Games for the Guild in Grand Rapids. The team had its best finish in a national tournament since 2000.

Senior Jacob Jeffers sets an example with his right moves

By Jeffory Kline

The Aquinas Twilight meet will take place at Home Field on May 9.

---

Baseball team looking to make a run at the WHAC Tournament

By Dan Meley

Two weeks before the Wolverines and Fighting Saints meet in the WHAC between the Michigan Tech University and Aquinas College baseball teams, the Saints are coming off a weekend series with the University of Notre Dame.

Women's outdoor track and field off to a quick start

By Chuck Thynne

The relay teams took first, along with fresh- men Rumeal McKinney taking first place in the 1000-meter run. The Aquinas women's 4x100 and 4x200 relay teams took first, along with fresh- men Erika Fischmann in the 200-meter hur- dles. On the men's side of the meet, the Saints swept the first three places in the 100-meter dash with B.B. senior Brendan McKeehan taking first place. The Saints also took the top four places in the 5000-meter run with junior Mike Gravelin taking first place. The Saints will face Shorter on April 20 in the WHAC Tournament.